REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD.

The work of another year is completed, and we herewith present an account of the trust you have committed to us.

Last year we were able to report the largest and most prosperous year's work in the Board's history. This year be it said to God's praise we bring you a still more cheering report.

More workers have been employed, more stations occupied, more additions to our missionary churches and more money given for the support of the work than during any previous year.

The Board has had under appointment 142 workers, 128 men and 14 women. The result of their labors so far as figures can show may be seen from the following:

Summary of Work.

Men and women employed 142; stations occupied 208; days engaged 12,828; miles traveled 98,338; sermons and addresses delivered 10,480; prayer meetings held 2,914; religious visits made 27,032; conversions 2,495; baptisms 2,259; received by letter 1,885; restored to fellowship 218; total additions to our mission churches 4,362. Membership in mission churches 15,302; churches organized 12; Sunday schools organized 38; number of Sunday schools at mission stations 212; number of teachers and scholars in mission Sunday schools 16,587.

Collections in Mission Churches.

For State Missions	$3,118 31
For Home Missions	1,015 03
For Foreign Missions	1,451 68
For Orphanage	1,813 62
For Ministerial Education	214 11
For Aged and Infirm Ministers	467 45

Our missionaries have been faithful to the work committed to them. They have toiled unremittingly. Through their prayerful efforts multitudes of people have been induced to "break off from all their sins by righteousness, and from all their iniquities by turning to the Lord."

Churches Organized.

The following 12 churches have been organized during the year at mission stations:

Second Florence	Florence county.
Ehrhardt	Bamberg county.

Second Fountain Inn ....Greenville county.
Rehoboth ....Greenville county
Bethany ... ...Fairfield county.
Patrick .. .. .Chesterfield county.
Pinewood .. ..Clarendon county.
Bluffton ... ...Beaufort county.
High Shoals ... ...Oconee county.
Mt. Olivet ... ...Oconee county.
Second Walhalla ... ...Oconee county.
Carolina .. ..Horry county.

May these churches prove to be plants of the Lord's right hand planting. May his name be glorified in them and his cause be promoted through them.

Churches Built and Dedicated.

Sawyer Memorial .. ..Orangeburg county.
Second Dillon ....Marion county.
Shandon .. ..Richland county.
Martha Long Chapel .. ..Richland county.
Harmony ... ...Fairfield county.
Park Rock Hill ....York county.
North Side Rock Hill ....York county.
West End Rock Hill .. ..York county.

Expended on improvement of mission church buildings $10,716.67.

A very unusual thing occuried in Rock Hill on the 3rd Sunday in July. Three Baptist church buildings were on that day dedicated to the service of God.

When we call to mind that 35 years ago there were only two Baptist families in that town, and that now it has four organized churches, we surely have reason to thank God and take courage.

Year by year the missionaries of your Board are planting churches where needed, building monuments to your zeal and liberality, and establishing light houses in the name of the Master.

Our Lady Missionaries and Fields of Labor.

Miss E. Y. Hyde ....Charleston.
Miss Tibbie Carroll ....McColl.
Miss E. J. Dowell ....Rock Hill.
Miss A. J. Berger ....Anderson.
Miss H. H. Wright .. ..Greenville.
Miss G. E. Brumfield .... .Greenville
Miss Edna Stewart .. ..Greenville.
Miss Daisy Cummings ... .Spartanburg.
Miss M. A. Barton .. ..Pelzer.
Miss Lucy E. Cureton .. ..Union.

Miss Cleo Attaway ..... Columbia.
Miss Lula Rushton ..... Columbia.
Miss Mary G. Adams ..... Darlington.
Mrs. T. A. Dabney ..... Lancaster.

Their Work.

Meetings held for children	1217
Meetings held for others	749
Papers and tracts distributed	4772
Copies of Scriptures donated and sold	170
Religious visits made	17593
Recruits secured for Sunday schools	592
Garments given to the poor	1701
Sick persons visited and nursed	756

The above figures tell only of the activity of our lady missionaries. They do not by any means tell the whole story of the value of their influence and labors. Quietly and ceaselessly they have gone about doing good, carrying by their ministry good cheer to weary hearts. In their labor they seek to change and brighten the environments of individuals, homes and communities, as well as to bring many under the gracious influences of the gospel.

In addition to special work among the children and women in their communities, some of them have organized and are conducting Mission Study Classes from which must result an ever increasing interest in mission work. Other communities are calling for such laborers, and if the Board can grant these requests, the force of our lady missionaries will be considerably enlarged next year.

Our Evangelists.

The Executive Board in January re-elected Brethren J. E. McManaway, of Greenville, and B. J. Woodward, of North Augusta, as State Evangelists. Brother J. S. Corpening, of Dillon, was also elected and served well and faithfully for six months, when he resigned to accept a pastorate in Fairfield Association. The labors of these brethren have been abundant and fruitful of gracious results. They report having traveled 16,852 miles, preached 1,112 sermons, received for baptism 530 persons, to wit: 68 were received by letter and 37 restored to fellowship. These figures are included in the general summary in this report. They are given here, however, that some of the results of their toil may be seen by the Convention. Wherever these brethren have gone preaching the Word, they have been kindly received, and departing have left our cause revived and strengthened.

Bible and Colportage Work.

We never know what good we may be accomplishing when we place a good book in a home or in the hands of an individual.

Persons who have never been touched by hearing sermons have been reached through the reading of a good book or tract. We have had during the year four regular colporters while four missionaries have coupled colportage work with their missionary labors. The sales have amounted to $2,588.45. This is less than the sales of last year amounted to. The number of books sold, however, has been greater, owing to the fact that a number of our best books have been brought out in cheap editions. We have placed a copy of the Scriptures in every family reported to us as destitute of the Bible and too poor to buy.

Our Work Among the Mill People.

The Board has continued its active and aggressive work among the people in our mill villages. During the past year we have done work at 73 mills; employing 14 women and 50 men. This policy seems wise to us because of the great need of these fields and also because of the hopefulness of the work. There are many strong and self-sustaining churches in mill towns now doing splendid service, which were in other days aided by our Board, and we confidently expect some which are now being aided to become self-supporting in the near future, and take their places as potent factors in the spread of the gospel.

So far as we can see the mill problem, so perplexing in many of its phases, is being solved by your Board in giving the gospel in its purity and power to these people. In a pamphlet published recently by Mr. Thomas Parker, of Greenville, he makes the startling statement that one-fifth of the white children in South Carolina are found at cotton mills. This being true it emphasizes tremendously the importance of our efforts in seeking to bring these boys and girls that are soon to take a part in shaping the destinies of our State under the gracious influences of the gospel. The work of your Board in this department is attracting the attention of other denominations, not only in South Carolina, but in other States. Your Secretary is in receipt of letters from men in high official positions inquiring about our work and methods among mill people.

We acknowledge with gratitude the following contributions from manufacturing companies to our missionaries:

Saxon Mills, $50.00; Spartan Mills, $75.00; Poe Mills, $100.00; Monaghan Mills, $150.00; Inman Mills, $100.00; Camperdown Mills, $75.00; Cox Mills, $25.00; Easley Mills, $25.00; Brandon Mills, $100.00; Woodside Mills, $50.00; Darlington Mills, $60.00; Aiken Mills, $290.00; Newberry Mills, $100.00; Fairfield Mills, $50.00; Appalachee Mills, $100.00; Riverside & Toxaway Mills, $25.00; Cheswell Mills, $25.00; Maple and Dillon Mills, $75.00.

In many cases the Companies furnish dwelling houses for our missionaries.

The Co-operation of our Women.

Your Board again makes grateful acknowledgment of the excellent service rendered our work by the women of our churches. Their splendid gift of $6,414.64 makes it possible in great measure for us to report the largest amount of money ever raised in one year for State Mission work in South Carolina.

This large gift from the Woman's Missionary Union is keenly appreciated by your Board, not simply because it supplies funds sorely needed, but because it reavels the abiding and ever increasing interest on the part of our sisters in the evangelization of their own State. Every where and by nearly everyone the value of Woman's Missionary Societies is recognized. They are among the chief sources for collecting and distributing missionary intelligence, and awakening missionary zeal and enthusiasm. The thanks of the Board are due the Woman's Missioary Union, not only for what they have done, but also for the promise made to raise $6,000 for the coming year.

Our Finances.

The financial depression during last year and the year before embarrassed us somewhat. This year through the liberality of our people, we have covered the expenses of the year and reduced the debt very considerably. All of our missionaries have been paid up to October 1, and we have now sufficient funds in Bank to pay all up to December 1. Money came in so fast the last few days that there was not time to send out checks before the books were closed. We owe the bank $4,438.66 and $1,762.22 to the Colportage Fund, which is controlled by the Board.

We tender our grateful thanks to a number of laymen, to our pastors and to The Baptist Courier for their enthusiasm and good services, which enabled us to reach the goal. The following Associations went over the amounts asked for: Edgefield, Florence, Orangeburg, Pickens, Ridge, Saluda, Santee, South East and York; and the following lacked only small sums of reaching the mark: Abbeville, Chester, Greenville, Pee Dee, Reedy River, and Welsh Neck. South Carolina Baptists have shown what they can do when they have a mind to work.

Calendar Schedule.

Your Board prepared a Calendar Schedule of Offerings and presented it to the Associations at their annual meetings. The Schedule was adopted by every Association to which it was presented. The object of the Board in preparing and presenting this Schedule was to so rotate the Associations in their benevolence, that certain Associations would be giving monthly to each object fostered by the Convention; hoping thereby to relieve the denomination of the necessity of paying a large interest debt, as well as to lift the fearful strain during the closing days of the Convention year, from those managing these various interests. This scheme even were it perfect will avail nothing unless it is adopted by the churches and worked and pressed by our pastors. More and more we see the wisdom of apportioning the amounts to be raised to the Associations, and in turn these to be apportioned by the Executive Committees to the churches. By working this scheme by our suggested Schedule each cause will receive its pro rata share monthly, our employees will be paid promptly, and our cause put firmly on a business basis.

Greenville, S. C., Dec. 6, 1909.

This is to certify that I have examined the accounts of Dr. T. M. Bailey, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer of the Executive Board of the South Carolina Baptist State Convention, showing receipts and disbursements to the above date, and find the same correct and supported by proper vouchers.

W. W. KEYS, Auditor S. C. B. C.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON REPORT OF STATE MISSION BOARD.

The report of Dr. Bailey, the efficient and honored Secretary of our State Mission Board, should fill the hearts of South Carolina Baptists with exceeding great joy. The results of the past year mark an advance far beyond anything that has been achieved during any of the preceding years—beyond indeed, the fondest hopes of the most ardent lover of our State Mission work and its interests. These results are largely due to the ripe experience, the loyal devotion and the untiring energy and consecrated zeal of our beloved Secretary, who, while wearing a crown of snow, has gone about his work with the step of a youth marching to conquest. Your committee would also pay tribute to the labors of the Assistant Secretary, W. T. Derieux. From the mountains to the seaboard, into every nook and corner of our dead old Commonwealth, through heat and cold, day and night, his eloquent pleadings in behalf of this work have been heard by thousands, and gloriously answered. Your committee would thus, through the minutes of this Convention, express its sincere appreciation of the services of these two men.

Four items in the main report should be emphasized:

1. The large number of additions to the churches aided by the Board. A larger number than ever reported in any previous year.

2. The increase in the receipts of the Board. Several thousand dollars beyond the contributions of any preceding year.

3. The success and value of the work done in the mill towns of the State. This work should appeal more strongly to our hearts and purses.

4. The help rendered by the consecrated women—by those who have toiled as missionaries and by those who have fostered the work by their prayers and contributions.

A better day is coming—yes, has already come—and the sun is high in the heavens. Let us pray for the speedy glory of a yet brighter shining, the light whereof shall flood the entire land.

We recommend that the work for the ensuing year be planned for an expenditure not to exceed $35,000.00 and that an apportionment be made among the Associations not to exceed $40,000.00 so as to be sure of meeting the expenditures, with a balance for any indebtedness that may exist.

W. T. HUNDLEY, for Committee.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

In investigating the statement of the State Mission Board for the year just passed, your committee reports that it finds no lack of wisdom in the policy of the Board, nor of diligence or self-sacrificing devotion on the part of its secretaries. The failure to meet appropriations and pay off the indebtedness was due to the presentation of claims entirely unforeseen and yet just and unavoidable.

At this time we have been confronted with a statement from our honored and beloved secretary that age and a multitude of years will make it impossible for him to do in 1910 the amount of work he accomplished in the year now ending, and he asks to be allowed to retire from the high office he has held for twenty-four years with such credit to himself and success to the denomination. While we accept the wisdom of the suggestion and believe that Dr. Bailey should so shape his labors as to add other years to his useful life, we suggest that he retire, only to be made Secretary Emeritus for life, with a salary competent to supply his wants. That the selection of his successor be left to the Executive Board, and that he retain his position until that successor be chosen.

The committee fells that it cannot too strongly express its appreciation of the long life and faithful labors of its distinguished Secretary, whose wise brain and loving heart have nursed and nourished State Mission Work and seen it grow under his watchful care to its present proportions. He is assured of the grateful love of his brethren, and that he holds a place in the hearts of South Carolina Baptists that no one else can fill.

Signed by all the committee:

REPORT OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE STATE MISSION BOARD.

There are two general features of the work under which the Department of Sunday Schools may make its report for the year:

1. The Work of the Department.

1. In the Field.—A summary of the Secretary's monthly reports shows that he has visited 72 churches and Sunday Schools, and has made 239 addresses, lectures, etc., to workers aggregating in number about 8,000 and representing 229 Sunday Schools. Many of these meetings were Associational Conventions; a still larger number of them were Institutes that lasted two or three days, while a few of them were brief Rally occasions. The work of the Secretary has been chiefly along the line of instruction, as there is a more wide-spread need and demand for help than for enthusiasm.

During the last two months of the year, the general work of the Board received special attention at the hands of the Department. The Secretary attended several of the Associations at their annual sessions, besides filling a number of special engagements to represent the general interests. But wherever possible, Sunday School Institutes were conducted in connection with such meetings.

The field work has been, for the most part, given to those sections of the State where there appeared to be the greatest need and the brightest promise of development, consistently with the missionary foundation for the existence of the Department. Our aim has been to secure a uniform betterment of the schools along all lines and to utilize the latent possibilities for more effective work that exist among our people.

During the year, the Secretary's services have been in demand for Institutes at the First Baptist church of Lynchburg, Va., at the First Baptist church of Asheville, N. C., and at the Southern Baptist Assembly, Bluemont, N. C. These meetings were attended without cost to the Department and without conflict with engagements for work within the State.

2. State Mission Day.—The Committee planned for the observance of State Mission Day by the Sunday Schools, Aug. 29th. The Secretary accordingly published and sent out to pastors and superintendents special programs for the occasion. This was the second time that this Day has been put upon the calendar, and its observance and proceeds were so much better than formerly that there seems to be no reason why it should not grow until it would prove to be a source of great good to the Schools and of a large income to the Board. Many of the Schools that did not observe the Day on the date suggested did so at a later time, and made special offerings to State Missions.

3. The Assembly.—The third session of the Assembly was held at Furman University in Greenville, July 18-23. This meeting was established by the Department, and the Secretary is the chairman of its Executive Committee. Its management therefore comes within the scope of this report. The program provided for special lectures on Missions of all kinds, Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. work, and Bible studies, besides some popular addresses of a general character. The W. M. U. of the State held a Training School in connection with the Assembly, and by special arrangement, this feature of the exercises will be incorporated into the General Assembly program next year. The attendance was even better than it was the previous year, there having been about 300 visitors present during the sessions. All the addresses were of an exceptionally high order, and the fellowship of the occasion was most pleasant and helpful.

4. Publications.—Besides the Assembly and the State Mission Day programs, which were issued by the Department, the Secretary has contributed to our Southern Baptist press during the year more than 100 articles on different phases of Sunday School work. Among them, may be mentioned those which were issued by the Sunday School Board in their publications, the Central Baptist, the Word and Way, the Biblical Recorder, and the Baptist Courier. A series of 44 articles is now appearing in The Courier. We desire to express our gratitude to The Courier for the valuable assistance which it has rendered. It has been one of our strongest allies, and its columns have been freely and effectively used in getting the work before the Schools.

5. Expenses.—Although the Treasurer's accounts will show the expenses incurred by the Department of Sunday Schools, we deem it advisable to mention them in connection with the report of the work done. The items are as follows: the Secretary's salary, $1,200; travelling expenses, office, stationery, stamps, $243.41, making a total of $1,443.41. The aggregate of collections for State Missions received by the Secretary is $377.49. This amount does not include several offerings which were forwarded directly to the Treasurer of the Board by the treasurers of churches. By special arrangements, particular efforts were made for State Missions during the last two months of the year, and most of the above amount was collected at that time.

II. Conditions in the Field.

Much progress has been made by the Schools in the past year. In the statistical table on Sunday Schools, the Secretary has tabulated some evidences of it. But those respects in which growth is reported merely indicate an improved condition generally.

1. Evergreen Schools.—Compared with the statistics of two years ago, the number of evergreen Schools has increased by 40. And of those which are still reported otherwise, many have sessions on preaching days throughout the year, devoting such Sundays to two lessons each; while a number of other churches have branch Schools in which their teaching services are held. So that at the present there are perhaps less than 100 Schools that do not have continuous sessions and that do not take the Lessons consecutively.

2. Teacher-Training.—The Normal Courses have rapidly grown in favor with the workers the past year. We now have about 40 Normal Classes of various sizes distributed through 20 Associations. The Teacher-training system offered by the Sunday School Board is everywhere adopted. Two years ago there were about 6 classes in 3 Associations.

3. The Organized Adult Class Movement is becoming very popular among our people, especially that phase of it which relates to young men and young women. For the most part, the Baraca and the Philathea names are adopted, although we have a few Agogas, besides several mixed classes. A large number of strictly adult classes have been formed having whatever simple form of organization the local conditions made necessary or expedient. Two years ago there were about 16 organized classes of all kinds, now we have more than 100. The Baraca-Philathea movement has been organized on an inter-denominational basis, with Bro. J. J. Gentry, of Spartanburg, our adult class Secretary, as the president of the State Union. Through this agency several classes have been established in our Baptist Sunday Schools.

4. Special Departments.—Steady advancement has been made in the adoption of special departments in the Sunday School. The Cradle Roll and the Home Department have increased from a total of less than 15 two years ago to more than 50 at the present. In a few instances, they may be regarded as the cause of an increased attendance on the part of adults, but in the larger number of cases, as the result of it.

5. Supervision.—There is great need that the Department shall be able to exercise a more thorough supervision over the Schools. Regular bulletins should be issued by the Secretary to the pastors and superintendents of all the Schools; and by correspondence, at least, he should be able to give his personal attention to every School in the State. This should be done once a year at any rate. But the extra cost of issuing and distributing matter sufficient to do this would not have been less han $200, and the amount of extra expense, therefore, was too large to justify us in undertaking it. But we earnestly desire that such provision will be made as will enable the Department to carry out such a plan. While much along this line has been accomplished by the distribution of literature and in advice by mail to the workers, yet nothing of a general, systematic character has been attempted.

6. In the Field, the local or the general Institute presents our greatest opportunity. In the office, an adequate supervision is our greatest need.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

We, your Committee to report on the Report of the Sunday School Committee, report the following:

1. We note that the part of the report having to do with the work of the Department makes plain the fact that the Secretary has been active in visiting churches, in holding Institutes, in writing articles on Sunday School Work, and in directing our Sunday Schools in missionary work.

2. And what has been the manifest result of the Sunday School Department may be seen in the following: (1.) Many Sunday Schools now are open the entire year; (2.) the teacher, the largest factor in the Sunday School, is availing himself of the opportunity of knowing the best methods of teaching; (3.) the Sunday School is being better organized, especially as to classes. This in our judgment is a good thing for our Schools, for they have the advantage of righteous pride, of the power attending organization, and of doing work out of the class room.

3. We readily see how the work is limited for the want of funds to enable the Secretary to prepare literature on method and to stay in touch with the Schools. We would suggest that the Secretary be allowed to do more of this work. And it is our conviction that the Department can be of great service by holding as many Institutes as possible with individual churches, with groups of churches, and with Associations.

GENERAL REPORT ON SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

There is no department in our church work that has shown more progress and development during recent years than can be seen in a well organized, up-to-date Sunday School. For many years after the beginning of this work the improvements in methods was slow. At first the Sunday School had no special provision for its needs so far as buildings and equipment were concerned. A comparatively few godly men and women saw the need for the maintenance of the Sunday School, and were sufficiently interested to give time and talents to teaching the young children who alone came to study the Bible. All honor to the noble few who with self-sacrifice held this important work in hand until more interest, and better organization and equipment could be secured. In early days there was not sufficient emphasis given to the importance of the salvation of children, and little encouragement was given to public confession of Christ by them. Later came the period when some wise, practical men and women began to see the opportunity afforded in providing improved methods both in organization and equipment. Gradually, the various Departments, now so necessary, from the Cradle Roll to the Home Department, were perfected, modern buildings constructed, giving most convenient means for proper instruction. The whole country then became alive with the demand for complete organization in Sunday School work and for better buildings. When this was accomplished, there seemed to be somewhat of a pause and a feeling that the work was perfected. Possibly too much importance was attached to the mere matter of the mechanical, and not sufficient thought of the product. Reliance on the machinery alone could not accomplish the most needed results. Spiritual thought and purpose was largely lacking and in recent years the Sunday School has reached its highest point of efficiency; because the demand is made for the kind of teaching that by use of these perfected methods, but independent of them, reached the hearts of the scholars of all ages, and urges prayerfully a full acceptance of Christ and a public confession of an intelligent faith in him.

The Sunday School that is not Evangelical in a very practical and natural way is far below its highest privilege and work; even though it has a thorough organization and perfectly squipped building.

So now there comes the strong appeal for Teacher Training classes, and this today is probably the most pressing need of our Schools. We must have men and women, filled with an earnest purpose to teach in the true sense, with great heart power, that will win souls. We need the enrollment of every member of every home of our congregation, as members of our School, studying the Bible. Then by personal influence of older ones, we can easily hold our children.

We commend most highly the organizing of our adult classes, so that each class will have its own officers and committees. Definite, practical work should be attempted, whereby our scholars are properly developed for Christian work, and interest is shown in each individual who is enrolled.

Since so very large a proportion of all the members who enter our churches come from the Sunday School, it can be seen that those who do not actively engage in this inspiring work, are shutting themselves out from that field of endeavor for God and his cause which yields the richest harvest.

We endorse heartily the work of Bro. J. D. Moore, the Sunday School Secretary, and the Institutes that he has been conducting throughout the State have been productive of much good.

T. T. HYDE, for Sunday School Com.

EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE.

Again your Board of Trustees comes to the Convention to make its annual report with thanksgiving to God who has so greatly blessed our institution. The loyalty and devotion of the Baptists of South Carolina has made possible the success which has crowned the past year's work. For eighteen years this institution has been growing, prospering and living in the hearts of the people.

We now have in our large family at the Orphanage two hundred and forty-eight, divided between nine homes. The force at work among the children at Greenwood is united and harmonious. I doubt if there can be found more faithful and efficient officers and teachers.

During the last few months the Orphanage has received from the estate of J. T. Jordan, Timmonsville, two hundred and fifty ($250) dollars and from the Lucius Cuthbert estate, one thousand and nine dollars and ninety-nine cents ($1,009.99).

The Terrill Smith property consisting of two town lots in Williston and four farms in Barnwell County, embracing a total of about six hundred and seventy-five acres of land, is now offered for sale. By decree of the Circuit Judge this property was ordered to be sold so that it could be used to better advantage by the Orphanage. The decree of the Judge directed that an Industrial Building should be erected at the Orphanage with the proceeds from this sale.

We have purchased a house and lot adjoining the Orphanage for use of one of our foremen, for which eight hundred dollars was paid.

The Board held its annual meeting in July at the Orphanage. The trustees spent the night there and noted with pleasure the progress and development during the past year, due to the fine management and good work of our efficient Superintendent and his co-laborers.

Attached hereto, you will find the report of the Superintendent covering the various details of the work.

G. B. BUELL, President.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

Anderson, S. C., Dec. 8, 1909.

The year has been one of internal development rather than of physical growth. A feature of the work has been the frequent gatherings of the matrons for conference and discussion. Many of the problems that perplex have received consideration, and the matters that relate to better cooking and serving of the food, better sanitary and health arrangemens, neater housekeeping, the management and rearing of children have been freely and profitably discussed.

Special talks have been given the older pupils by the Superintendent, the physicians of Greenwood and by Dr. E. A. Hines of the State Board of Health. As a result of Dr. Hines' visit the institution now has a system of medical inspection that thoroughly looks into the physical condition of each child. Only one other school in South Carolina has as yet adopted such a system, we are informed, and less than a dozen in the South. We feel that a closer safeguarding of the health of the children will forestall many an ill, prevent many a doctor's visit and cause many of them in the years to come to thank God and ourselves for such attention.

The Farm and the School.

We have great reason to be encouraged over our farm report for the year. Canned goods were put up that are worth about $200.00; about $500.00 worth of beef and pork have been slaughtered at the farm, 900 bushels of corn were produced this year principally at the Maxwell Farm. The yield of milk was a little over 12,000 gallons which may be conservatively valued at $3,000; 1,000 bushels of sweet potatoes were produced. The valuation of hay and stover is placed at $1,200.00, garden products were raised in usual quantity and about $600.00 worth of wood was furnished by the Maxwell Farm.

Work in the school has been maintained as last year. There has been no change in the course of study. The school continues through ten months of the year. No less than 16 of our young people, former pupils, are in the colleges of the State this year pursuing their studies. This single fact attests the excellence of the school work now being done under the direction of Miss Jeannttte Murdoch, principal.

Children with Living Mothers.

I would call your attention to the fact that the number of children whose mothers are living is increasing at the Orphanage, and it appears to me that the increase is not entirely wholesome or desirable. No institution, however excellent in its purpose or management, can take mother's place in the life of a child, and there can be little doubt that the encouragement given by friends to widowed mothers that they send their children to the Orphanage is in some cases ill advised. It would often be better for the home church and the home friends to supplement the widow's income so that she and her children may remain in a home, though "ne'er so humble," which is God's and nature's plan. It is not to be denied that broken health and poverty in certain cases make it advisable to send children to the Orphanage, but pastors and friends would do well to think twice before becoming too insistent that a widow's children shall be taken from her and given over to the institution for care and training.

During the past year we have kept up fairly well with applications for the admission of full orphans. There are perhaps not 15 that are now waiting on the out side for a vacancy to occur that they may be admitted. But more than a hundred half orphans are seeking admission, and, unfortunately, in some cases the demand on the part of friends for their immediate admission is a little unseemly in its urgency.

Notable Gifts.

A remarkable contribution recently received was that of the State Woman's Missionary Union. At the annual meeting of this body at Greenwood last month, provision was made whereby the Orphanage was furnished with silver for all the children's tables. We know of nothing that would have helped more in the effort to teach in good manners and to bring the children up with ideas of polite and refined customs. It is the kind of goods that could not, perhaps, have been justifiably bought out of the Orphanage treasury, but is highly prized by the children and by the officers as well. The generosity of our noble women should receive our recognition and most earnest thanks.

A recent valued gift is a piano from Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Leavell, of Newberry. This is not a castaside and worn-out instrument, but is in excellent condition. It is much prized because it was so greatly needed by the children that are now taking lessons in music.

With pleasure we report the foundation of another scholarship, which was established on Christmas day 1908, by Dr. J. A. Cole, of Timmonsville, upon payment by him of $1,000.00 into the treasury. This amount will yield an income sufficient to support one child perpetually. Dr. Cole's splendid plan is commended to others.

It is estimated that the value of dry goods, shoes, potatoes, fowls, flour, meal, syrup and other goods sent in by shipment to the Orphanage during the year amounts to $3,415.10.

Expense for Repairs.

The expense for repairs during the present year including some minor improvements is an item of some consideration.

We have repainted a number of roofs and painted some of the houses inside and out, including the chapel. The furnace at Maxwell Building has been rebuilt. A cabin at the Maxwell Farm blew down in the March storm and has been rebuilt. A dressing-room has been added at Smith Home at a cost of about $300.00. New beds have necessarily had to be purchased to take the place of old ones worn out. New furniture has replaced some that was broken and wrecked. About $400.00, was necessary to change from wood burning to coal burning stoves. New sewing machines have had to be added.

Expenses similar to those enumerated above amount to $2,-446.23, this year. That is one of the penalties we pay for growing old. In the early days the repair bill was next to nothing as every article was fresh and new. At present there are so many roofs, beds, piazzas and machines to wear out that the need to repair and rebuild and refurnish is constant and increasing. Such expenses increase the per capita cost of rearing children at the Orphanage.

Expense for the Sick.

Expense of the care of the sick in the financial report this year will strike all as unprecedented and astonishing. The Orphanage has been entirely unaccustomed to such figures. Pure water and plenty of it, fresh country air and plain food have conspired to keep down the expense of drugs, medicines and medical care. Last year one little girl was diagnosed by our home doctor as having tuberculous hip. She was sent to a hospital in Atlanta where she remained two months. Returning home it was necessary to employ a special nurse to take charge of her. Again, after a few months of no marked improvement, she went to the hospital for a two months stay. She is now at the Orphanage in the care of a lady employed to give all her time to this little girl. Her bright lovely face, so intelligent and sweet, seems a sufficient explanation for the hundreds of dollars that have been spent upon her during the year.

Another one of the girls was sent to the hospital at Chester last spring. She had to return in the fall for a second surgical operation, and after a very tedious, painful experience is at the Orphanage hopefully convalescent.

A little boy, pronounced by our local doctor to be in a hopeless condition without surgical attention, was sent to the Chester hospital in October. He is now improving and we hope he will soon be entirely well again.

This extraordinary record accounts mainly for the large expense mentioned, and yet not one of the surgeons in Atlanta or Chester has allowed himself to receive a cent for his skillful attention to either of our children. For the rest of the family I may speak but a single sentence; the health has been excellent.

Last summer a dental outfit, second hand, was purchased by the Orphanage at about one-fifth its original cost, and arrangements made with Dr. T. J. Crymes, of Greenwood, to come to the Orphanage every Tuesday afternoon to give attention to the children's teeth. His work will be very largely along the line of preventive dentistry. Many hundreds of teeth will be saved from wreck and decay by having regular inspection and prompt attention, whereas heretofore so many have been lost because of neglect.

Miscellaneous.

The following Associations have given less to the Orphanage this year than last, namely, Beaverdam, Broad River, Charleston, Chester, Florence, Laurens, Orangeburg, Piedmont, Reedy River, Ridge and Savannah River.

We urge upon the brethren in these Associations that the Orphanage is a growing institution and needs enlarged support rather than less.

It was deemed almost necessary that a lady be engaged to devote her entire time to the laundry. It was practically impossible to get good work done and the waste in soap, the wear and tear of clothing and machinery was excessive. Miss Hassie Roper came to the position of laundry matron June 1 last, and has been very successful in the management of her work. She has groups of girls that come in regular turn to assist with the washing machines, the extractor, mangler, and dry room, the starching and ironing of some 3,000 garments weekly.

Ten of the boys and girls now have music lessons given them at the Orphanage. Mr. G. H. Smart is the instructor. He also comes every Saturday afternoon for a chorus practice and takes charge of the music every Sunday afternoon. Mr. Smart is a great success at work of this kind, and he has been instrumental in greatly improving the music within the short space of three months.

There are at present at the Orphanage 92 boys, 121 girls, making a total of 213 orphan children. In addition there are 25 resident officers and ten members of officers' families, making a total population of 248. There has been during the year a total registration of 227 orphan children. 192 are at present enrolled in school, 21 being below school age.

Mr. J. Perry Harrison, the foreman of the printing department for nearly four years, resigned in September last to enter the Medical College in Charleston. Miss Annie McLaurin in June resigned her position as teacher of the third grade, and her place was filled by the election of Miss Josie Harden. There have been no other changes in the working force.

To the Baptist State Convention, Anderson, S. C.

I have examined fully the books of A. T. Jamison, Superintendent of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, for the year ending 30th November last, and find them to be kept in excellent shape and correct.

J. K. DURST, Auditor.

THE REPORT ON THE ORPHANAGE REPORTS.

The committee to which was referred the reports of the Trustees and Superintendent of the Connie Maxwell Orphanage beg leave to report as follows:

These accounts of the work of this institution bear the marks of successful operation. They show that this work has taken hold of the hearts of our people and that it has been entrusted to hands and heads that have been very faithful and very efficient. Without disarrangement of any other department of the service, it can be truthfully said that the very best of our business ability, active energy, and Christian devotion and earnestness have marked the work at the Orphanage during the past year.

It will not be necessary to repeat the figures here. The printed reports are self-explanatory, and ought to be carefully read by every delegate to the Convention. Nor need we recount what has been accomplished. A mere synopsis would be unsatisfactory. Upon a careful examination of the reports, the committee, without hesitation, recommend that the Convention approve the record thus made by the Superintendent and Trustees, and give them assurance of continued confidence and support in their great work, and that the same apportionment be made for the ensuing year.

There are just a few points of special interest to which particular attention should be directed.

We emphasize what is said in the report with reference to the admission of children with living mothers. There are many reasons why encouragement should not be given to mothers to part with their children, even temporarily, notwithstanding they are so carefully nourished in this excellent institution. The living parent should be in every way encouraged and assisted, if need be, to keep the young child at home. That is the natural thing to do. The first and chief responsibility is upon the parent, and the best and most useful assistance that can be rendered a poor mother is to aid her in the performance of the God-given duty to care herself for her child. So that we recommend that children with living mothers be only received into the Orphanage in cases where it shall be made clearly to appear that by reason of physical or mental infirmity, or in other cases of absolute and extreme necessity, such course is imperative.

We call special attention to the record of "notable gifts" made to the Orphanage during the past year. All of these are worthy of mention, but we put our emphasis here upon the gift of silver by the Woman's Missionary Union, of an excellent piano by Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Leavell, the gift for the establishing of a scholarship by Dr. J. A. Cole—the amount so given is $1,000—and this is a noble way in which to discharge the duties of Christian stewardship.

But let no one say, we submit, that the small gifts often representing real self-denial shall not receive the same reward some day, when our final account shall be made up and be spread before the Great Judge.

The unusually large expenditure for the sick is to be regretted only because of the occasions which required it. We ought to rejoice and give thanks that the Orphanage was able to do the things that these expenditures represent, and for the wisdom and care that attended the outlay.

On page 7 of the report of the Superintendent appears the statement of the apportionments to the Associations of the amount appropriated for the Orphanage for the year's support, and the amounts actually received. It is sufficient analysis of these figures to say that only seven Associations out of a total of thirty-seven, contributed amounts equal to the amounts so apportioned to them respectively. It is earnestly recommended that the churches in the other thirty will increase, and some of them materially, increase their contributions during the next associational year.

However, upon the whole, the financial condition is good, the policy of expenditure sound, and the Orphanage, now firmly established, is in good, faithful and efficient hands.

SIMEON HYDE, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION.

The annual meeting of this Board was held in Greenville, Monday, September 26th. Several of the members were unable to attend, but the meeting was a good one, and we were rejoiced to meet so many new students at Furman who are preparing themselves for the gospel ministry. Thirty-five young men made application for aid from the Board. These are receiving their tuition and many of them are aided also in the payment of their table board, either in part, or for the whole amount when necessary. Last year, at this time of the session, the Board reported twenty beneficiaries. It ought to be an occasion of joy and thanksgiving to the denomination in the State that a much larger number of young men than usual are yielding to the claims of the ministry of Christ. And we believe that the churches are grateful that the Lord of the harvest is calling more laborers to meet the demands of the growing work. An evidence of this is the increasing contributions received in the last month or two for the aid of these young men.

But the Board wishes to impress upon the Associations and churches the necessity for greatly enlarging contributions. The income from certain invested funds has for years been sufficient to meet the tuition account of the Board's beneficiaries, and table board alone was met by gifts from the churches. This session a very much larger board account and also a considerable sum for tuition, must be raised from the churches. The treasurer's report shows that during the year from Sept. 1st, 1908, to Sept. 1st, 1909, a little less than one thousand dollars was received from the Associations in the State. The smallness of these contributions made it necessary for the Board to close its work last session with a debt of $451.10, and the receipts for several months after were required to pay this indebtedness. With the much larger number of students to be aided this year, we shall need from the churches $3,000 by the close of this session, three times the sum received during last session. The remainder of our obligation to our beneficiaries, and the needs of other students who may apply later, aggregating $1,000 or more, could be met by the income from the funds before mentioned and from payments on the notes of beneficiaries falling due.

Our great need is that the work of ministerial education shall be seen in its true light and full importance by all the churches. When thus seen and appreciated it will not be difficult to raise the few thousand dollars to help worthy young men, who in numbers are all too few to man the fields calling for trained workers.

We ask that all pastors and churches lay this work upon their hearts, and send early and larger contributions than usual to our treasurer, John M. Daniel, Greenville. We trust that the response to our appeal will be so general and liberal that the session can be closed without debt on the Board.

J. A. BROWN, for the Board.

JNO. M. DANIEL,
Sec. and Treas. Board of Ministerial Ed.

I have examined the above account and find it correct, with proper vouchers.

H. T. COOK, Auditor.

December 4, 1909.

REPORT OF REFERENCE COMMITTEE ON REPORT OF BOARD OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION.

Your committee note with interest and thanksgiving to God that there is a much larger number of students for the ministry this year seeking aid than last year, there being thirty-five now, while there were but twenty-three. The work the Board is undertaking to do, viz.: to aid poor and worthy young men to obtain educational qualification for the preaching of the gospel of Christ is a noble, a blessed work, a work that should not be hindered for a want of money. The majority of those whom God calls to the work of the ministry are comparatively poor young men, and many of them so poor that they could hardly secure an education without financial help. The Board says to these poor, worthy young men, "Go on to school and we will see to it that what you yourself cannot supply shall be supplied for you," and thus the door to the ministry is opened to many God-called and worthy young men who could not but for this timely aid undertake the blessed work of proclaiming the glorious gospel of the blessed God.

We call the attention of the Convention to the statement in the report of the Board that the receipts from the Associations last year were a little less than $1,000 and that the needs this year will be fully $3,000. The Board appeals to the pastors and the churches of the Convention to take this worthy cause upon their hearts and to see to it that there shall be sufficient supplies to meet all demands so that there shall be no debt at the end of the school year.

Respectfully submitted,

HOWARD LEE JONES.
E. L. CLARK.
JABEZ FERRIS.

REPORT OF THE AGED MINISTERS' RELIEF BOARD FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC. 1, 1909.

The Aged Ministers' Board is glad to be able to report progress and prosperity. With the exception of a few sections of the State, where probably the pastors have not yet been won into active co-operation, the gifts to the Board have increased—not so much, perhaps, in the amount given as in the number of givers. Those who give at all, however, can be gradually worked up to better things, and hence the increased number of givers is a hopeful sign.

During the year, we have had on our roll, at one time and another, the names of fifty men and women. But the changes have been many and varied. At the recommendation of Association Boards, we have received—some of them already being helped, and others to be helped hereafter—five beneficiaries, viz.: Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, Mrs. Elizabeth Calley, Mrs. C. P. Ervin, Mrs. J. G. Williams, and Rev. Moses Pridgen.

In like manner, in obedience to Association Boards, we have dropped from our roll Rev. S. P. Chisolm and Rev. Asa West.

Death, too, has issued its orders, and five of our wards have been borne beyond the reach of our help, viz.: Rev. A. D. Bowers, Rev. J. F. Morrall, Mrs. E. J. Woodruff, Mrs. M. J. Bryan, and Miss Anna Lawton.

In order that the brethren may know whence these beneficiaries come and to what Associations their Churches belong, we append the following table:

Associations.	Number of Beneficiaries.
Aiken	1
Abbeville	1
Barnwell	2
Beaverdam	4
Broad River	3

Lexington	2
Moriah	1
North Greenville	3
Piedmont	1
Reedy River	2
Savannah River	5
Spartanburg	4
Twelve Mile River	3
Waccamaw	4
Total	51

The invested fund, including $2,250 recently received from the estate of Dr. Lucius Cuthbert, now aggregates, $8,250. This money is properly invested in real estate securities and bank stock.

We have also received during the year $100 from the estate of Bro. Geo. N. Askew, formerly of Blackville, S. C., who died in March, 1908. This amount will be invested as soon as we can get more to add to it. We hope to get this out of the offerings of the Christmas holidays.

We have no argument to present concerning the merits of this charity. A little reflection will produce its own argument. If preachers work all their lives for the Churches on small pay, and have nothing when they come to the end of working days, it does not fly in the face of reason to ask the Churches to come to their help when they are old, and to look after their widows when they are dead.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE AGED MINISTERS' RELIEF BOARD.

We desire to commend most heartily the work of the Secretary and Treasurer of this Board in his labor of love, and to express our unqualified endorsement of the wisdom and economy of the management.

We would call attention to the fact that this Board has a place in the schedule of contributions adopted by the Associations throughout the State, and most earnestly urge that it be recognized when its time comes and receive its quota of contributions. Let the pastors see that the small sum asked for shall not cause it to be overlooked or regarded as a matter of small importance.

We are glad to be able to state that thore is an invested fund of some $8,000.00 which is increasing slowly from year to year, and most heartily commend the Secretary and Treasurer in his efforts to increase this fund to large proportions, and urge the churches to contribute more liberally with this end in view.

R. H. BURRISS,
W. B. McCUEN.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF FURMAN UNIVERSITY.

The Board to whom the Convention entrusts the management of Furman University beg leave to submit the following extracts from the report of the President as their report to the Convention:

Semi-Annual Report of the President of Furman University to the Board of Trustees.

Gentlemen: I have the honor herewith to present my semi-annual report.

A recently published book, entitled "The Re-organization of Our Colleges" says: "A college is an atmosphere," and we must keep constantly before our people the distinctive atmosphere of our Christian schools, and we must press our claim that such schools are the best." If Christian men can not do the work of education better than non-Christian men, let them retire from the field. This is not to say that a given non-Christian mathematician may not teach mathematics better than a given Christian mathematician, but James Russell Lowell once said, "That men prefer to bring up their families in the sight of a church steeple," and we make bold here to say that the large enterprise of education, which is more than a technical discipline in certain sciences, can best be unlertaken by men who unite technical skill with devout and aggressive Christian character. Only those who are themselves adjusted to all the facts of the world and of history, including the Supreme Facts of God and his redemption in Christ, can assist young people to such adjustment as qualifies them for life in the world God made and that Christ redeemed. That college is the best college, which most certainly plants the enlarged character it develops upon the one foundation that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

We cite several items as indicating the Christian atmosphere of Furman University this year. A gentleman from Massachusetts was last spring visiting schools in various parts of the country, in search of a school for his boys. He visited us, and the result of his visit was that he placed two sons in our charge. He did this, as he himself said, in the conviction that the Christian atmosphere of the place was such as best met his requirements in that regard.

In a pamphlet recently printed and entitled, "The Religious Activities in Furman University," the following items appear:

There are 139 members of the Young Men's Christian Association.

There are 128 enrolled in Bible study.

There are 154 enrolled in Mission study, and these are in fifteen classes, taught by student leaders, who themselves are instructed by professors.

There are 15 volunteers for Foreign Missions, two new ones the present session. The seven members who left us last session, are looking forward to the time when they may sail for some foreign field. These volunteers hold their weekly meeting, as do also the students for the Ministry, of whom there are 25. These figures, except the last, show substantial improvements over last year. On each floor of Montague Hall a prayer meeting is held for a few minutes after supper five nights of each week, and every Sunday afternoon a service is held by a Volunteer Committee of our young men at the County Jail among the prisoners. Eleven students are engaged in Sunday School work in the mill villages of the city.

Dr. E. C. Dargan, pastor of the First Church, Macon, delivered three lectures last week to the students of Furman University and the Greenville Female College. This is in connection with the course of lectures to colleges arranged by the Foreign Mission Board to be delivered to the Baptist schools and colleges in the South. It was a great pleasure to have Dr. Dargan in Greenville. The lectures were largely attended, and created much interest in college circles, and greatly quickened the mission spirit in these two institutions. Dr. Dargan will lecture at the John B. Stetson University, DeLand.

The Student Body. The surprise of the year has been the large entering class of last September. The usual summer canvass had been pursued, but none of us were prepared for the more than one hundred Freshmen who applied for admission. They were for the most part, admitted on certificate from the schools which they have attended, and we find this method far more satisfactory than the previous one of conducting entrance examinations. Classification is more easily managed, and also more accurate under this method, and this is indicated by the fact that only a very small proportion of the men thus entered have required to be re-classified since admission. The total student body numbers 306, distributed as follows: Freshmen 106; Sophomores 32, Juniors 40, Seniors 22, Fitting School 106, total 306. These came from wider areas than heretofore; other States than South Carolina represented being: Massachusetts, Georgia, North Carolina and Florida. It is also true to say, that certain sections of our own State send fuller delegations than formerly.

Student Life. The volume alluded to in the opening paragraph has much to say of the department of student life in American Colleges, and by this the author means that portion of the students' time which is spent outside the class room. Among us this student life may be classified as follows:

(a) Dormitories.
(b) Literary Societies.
(c) Athletics.

There are now five dormitories on the campus devoted exclusively to housing the young men. At the last moment, it was found necessary to rent an additional house to accommodate the excess over last year. The public life of the dormitories is wholesome, for the most part. The mess hall, where all the boarding students take their meals, is organized in the interest of good order, and all offences against good order are dealt with by the hall under this organization. Quite recently a matter of great value to the public life and sentiment of the hall was handled in admirable fashion by he young men; the offender pleading guilty and cheerfully surrendering his privilege of residence there.

One of the Literary Societies has been obliged to divide itself into two sections in order to provide seats for the members, and we come thus in sight of the necessity of larger Society Halls. The annual public meetings of the two Societies have just been held, and these occasions, if they could be attended by the Trustees and our people generally, would immensely stimulate our pride in the institution.

It has been the aim of the Athletic Committee of the Faculty to diversify the exercises of the students, and tennis and basket ball, and track sports, have had special encouragement this year. Recently the Faculty passed a rule disallowing to any one student the privilege of representing the College on more than one athletic team: the aim of the rule being to increase the number of students participating in these wholesome and indeed altogether necessary outdoor exercises.

The Faculty and Class-room Work. A member of the Faculty, who has known the institution for a number of years, recently remarked, upon the fine spirit of unity and hearty co-operation which marks the work of the Faculty. You will permit me to say that it is a matter of gratification to the President to know and to feel that the members of the Faculty are so generally concerned for the wellbeing of the institution, and the total welfare of the student body.

At the beginning of the session a method, by which the Faculty handed in daily reports of class attendance to the President, has enabled us to keep much closer watch than heretofore over the detail work of the students, and on November 1st, and again on December 1st, the entire student body was gone over and those who had fallen short, were notified of their deficiencies and directed to improve their class standing, under penalty of having to withdraw after the Christmas examinations in case they failed to show the improvements required.

We have welcomed three new men in the teaching force, namely: Profs. G. A. Buist, J. L. Vass and R. H. Vann. The employment of Mr. Vann and Mr. Vass was authorized at the last meeting of the Board, but on coming together in the fall the Freshman class was so large it became necessary to divide it into three sections, and it was impossible for the teaching force at hand to care for so large an increase in hours of work; accordingly Prof. Buist, whom we already knew from his work in Prof. Watson's department during the latter's absence in Europe last year, was called in to take charge of the class in Freshman Physics.

The new degree of Bachelor of Science, of which announcement was made in the last catalogue, has thrown a large number of Freshmen into German, and with so large a number it was necessary to divide this into sections A and B. Up to this time Dr. Fletcher has volunteered to carry one of these sections, but after the holidays, when the work of his department is heavier, Dr. Fletcher will not be able to maintain this arrangement, and Prof. Vass, who has shown himself very well qualified, will carry one section of the Freshman German in addition to the other work that he has in the Fitting School and in Freshman Latin.

This experience makes plain the necessity which must be faced at the next meeting of the Board. We shall be obliged to find a new man, who knows German and mathematics, and whose special duties it will be to carry the men electing the Bachelor of Science degree, through their Freshman German and their Freshman Physics. You will recall that heretofore we have had no Freshman in either of these subjects, and now the likelihood is of large numbers of young men, who must be provided for in the way described.

The grounds about the Library are showing to admirable advantage the care which has been bestowed upon them since the Campus Improvement Association was projected, and the facilities of the Library itself are just now increased by the purchase of $150.00 worth of new books. The Library Committee takes occasion to express their thanks for donations of books and pamphlets and especially of historical matter relating to the Baptists of South Carolina. We trust that this will continue to come to us, and in increasing volume.

From what has been said under the two preceding divisions, it is clear that the annual expenses of the institution are steadily climbing to higher figures, and that this will continue to be the case, and it is necessary that we correspondingly increase the current income. The schedule of offerings from the churches adopted by the several Associations this fall, calls for an annual offering from every church in the State to the current support of Furman University. By the aid of this suggested schedule of offerings, we hope to largely increase tne number of churches making the annual offering to our funds. Another hopeful indication in this connection is the adoption under instruction from the last State Convention, by our Woman's Missionary Union, of Christian education as one of the objects they will foster and support, and the recent Convention of the women in Greenwood took positive steps in this direction. We believe that the information which our women will gather and scatter, and the prayers which this information will stimulate, will in no long while materially change for the better, the whole denominational atmosphere on the subject of Christian education. We hail with hearty gratitude the help of our women. Still another hopeful line is open before us in the "Living Endowment Union." Little has been said about it up to this time, because it seemed desirable not to risk confusing our people with another appeal while the joint campaign of the two Greenville Colleges was before the denomination, but it is our intention now to press the Living Endowment Union as rapidly as possible.

I have just alluded to the joint campaign authorized and arranged by the Orangeburg Convention. You will receive detailed report of the work of our Financial Agents in that campaign. To date the amount of cash in hand for Furman University is something less than $20,000.00. Of this amount $11,000.00 must be added to the cash received from the Allen Campaign to bring the figures up to $125,000.00. This leaves less than $9,000.00 to date to apply on the $25,000.00 required to be raised by the first of January to secure the conditional grant of $25,000.00 from the General Education Board. It will thus be seen that, speaking in round numbers, $16,000.00 in cash must be raised in the next twenty days in order to reach immediately the conditions, on which the James C. Furman Hall of Science is to be secured.

At a joint meeting of the Executive Committees of Furman University and Greenville Female College on December 3rd, by motion of Dr. Ware, of the G. F. C. Board, all funds collected in the joint canvass for the G. F. C. up to December 31, 1909, except amounts necessary to meet interest on certain notes, will be turned over to the Furman University funds, or so much as is necessary to secure the conditional grant of $25,000.00.

It will be remembered that at Union the Convention made over to the Executive Committees of the two institutions, together with the two Presidents and the two Financial Agents, the further handling of the joint campaign arranged for at Orangeburg. At the meeting of December 3rd, the following resolutions were presented by Dr. Z. T. Cody and passed unanimously:

Whereas, the Convention at Orangeburg authorized a joint campaign of two years for two hundred thousand dollars for Furman University and Greenville Female College, and whereas at the end of two years, only about half that amount has been raised, therefore; Be it resolved:

First. That the said joint campaign as arranged at the Orangeburg Convention, for funds for Furman University and Greenville Female College, be terminated December 31, 1909.

Second. That of the money paid in by that date on the joint notes, enough be given to Furman University to secure the conditional offer of the General Education Board.

Third. That after this conditional offer is met, all the money received on the joint notes go to the Greenville Female College until that institution receive the amount that shall have been given to Furman University from this fund.

Fourth. That thereafter the money received on the joint notes be divided equally between the two institutions.

Fifth. That these resolutions are not intended to preclude the co-operation of the two Boards in their further work of collecting and securing additional funds."

The generosity of this action on the part of the Executive Committee of the G. F. C. Board calls for most cordial recognition on the part of Furman University, but it must not be supposed that this action saves the Hall of Science, for when Furman is given the right to use all the funds in sight, in that interest, the figures which I have quoted above are only slightly changed; that is to say, by about $2,000.00

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF GREENVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE.

I. Work of the College.

The attendance for the past year has been very good, all that we could accommodate or reasonably expect. The enrollment for the present session shows a decided increase over any previous session. In this manifestation of loyalty on the part of our people we find a solid basis for our hope and prayer that the Convention will yet take cognizance of the College in a real and genuine way, and that at an early day Greenville Female College will be to our entire Baptist brotherhood a joy and pride.

The work done by the President and his efficient faculty merits approval and appreciation. To us it is wonderful that such splendid results are obtained under conditions so trying and adverse. Changes in the teaching force have been made with a view to, and have resulted in advantage to the student body and the best interests of the College. The College must be judged of its product. It has its best advertisement and most convincing testimonial in the women whom it has sent forth, ornaments to society, blessings to home and civic life, faithful and earnest servants of the Lord Christ.

II. College Needs.

The College must again present its plea for a place in the hearts and purses of our people. Its needs are many, various, pressing, vital. Unless something more solid and of greater purchasing power than promises and resolutions, is given—and that quickly—the College must cease to exist as a real competitor with first-class colleges, and can only languish unto a certain death.

New buildings adapted to present day demands, enlarged facilities, more and better furnishings and paraphernalia, are absolute requisites to the welfare of both students and the College. We do not seek luxuries, we must have necessities.

The College has stood aside for other interests until it can stand no longer in its proper place; the denomination must give a supporting and uplifting hand, or see it fall.

It is high time that the Convention reach a definite conviction as to whether it actually needs, really desires and positively will have a college worthy of and fitted for our young women.

The trustees hope to begin some needed building early in the coming year, and to prosecute the work of improvement to completion as rapidly as the funds available will permit.

III. Suggestions.

The trustees would suggest that they be given authority and fully empowered by the Convention to take such action for the future welfare of the College as they may deem expedient and necessary.

The trustees ask that the Convention sanction a continuance of a joint canvass for funds by Greenville Female College and Furman University, through an agent to be employed by these two institutions, the proceeds of such canvass hereafter to be equally divided between the two colleges, except where specifically designated for one or the other.

REPORT OF THE EDUCATION COMMISSION.

In obedience to the instructions given at the Convention held in Union last year, we respectfully recommend the following Constitution for the Education Commission:

CONSTITUTION.

I. Name.

The name of this Commission shall be The Baptist Education Commission of South Carolina.

II. Purpose of the Commission.

1. To bring into a system of co-operation the schools now under the control of this Convention and other schools under Baptist control, provided that these other schools desire the co-operation hereby created, and provided further that the State Convenion adopt them as members of the system of schools to be fostered by the Convention.

2. To act as an advisory body to bring about the affiliation of these schools in their methods of work, the character and extent of their courses of study, and such other matters as may seem to be needful for harmony and efficient service in the cause of education.

3. To act as an advisory board in all campaigns for funds for the schools of this system. It shall be the duty of these schools, before inaugurating such campaigns, to submit the plans thereof to this Commission and procure its approval to the end that conflicts of interests may be avoided and the needs of all schools may be met.

III. Membership of the Commission.

The number of members of the Commission shall be twelve, to be elected by the State Convention. The Convention for 1909, meeting in Anderson, shall elect the twelve members in sets of four to serve respectively one, two and three years. Their successors shall be elected at the annual Convention as their terms of office expire. The Commission shall elect its own officers and determine its own by-laws.

IV. Report of the Commission.

The Commission shall make an annual report to the Convention, which report may include not only an account of its work, but such recommendations as in the judgment of the Commission, the general educational work of the Convention may call for.

V. Changes in this Constitution.

Any changes in or additions to this Constitution shall be made by the State Convention.

REPORT ON THE SEMINARY ENDOWMENT.

Your committee appointed at the last Convention to cooperate with representatives of the Seminary in the effort to raise $50,000.00 in South Carolina as our part of a general campaign in the South for an additional $600,000,00 to the endowment of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, would report:

That this work did not begin in South Carolina until August of this year, because it was deemed advisable that the campaign for Furman and the Greenville Female College, which was far from being complete at the last Convention, be given the entire field for the first six months of this year.

But since August the work has been most successfully presented by Rev. T. J. Watts and Dr. S. A. Smith, who joined him in October. The purpose of the Seminary is to press this work as rapidly as possible, employing additional agents if need be.

We recommend that this campaign continue to have the right of way in the State and that no other general campaign for funds for our schools be inaugurated, until it be brought to a successful close, which we believe will be many months before the meeting of the next Convention. The loyal and hearty cooperation of the pastors; the great place which the Seminary has in the hearts of our people; and the tireless energy of Brethren Watts and Smith, insure we think a rapid and crowning victory. Already $30,000 has been raised in notes and cash.

REPORT ON WOMAN'S WORK.

It is significant that the New Testament has much to say about woman, her devotion and good works. We are told in Luke 8:1-3 that as Jesus went throughout every city and village preaching and showing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God, certain women who had been healed, "Mary Megdalene and Joanna and many others ministered unto him of their substance, accompanied him as he went on his tour of Galilee. And the Apostle in writing to the Philippians (4:3) says, "Help those women who labored with me in the gospel."

It is but right and proper that the women should be earnest helpers in the work of evangelizing the world, because they have received such great blessings and privileges from the gospel. And it is but just to record the fact that they have ever been ready to show their appreciation of the gospel by earnest efforts to send it to all the world.

We note with rejoicing the increasing number of our women who are putting forth organized effort for the evangelization of the world. The past 35 years have witnessed a marvellous growth in this respect. The membership of the Woman's Missionary Union of South Carolina is now more than 12,000. There are 608 Woman's Missionary Societies in our State, 157 Young Woman's Auxiliaries, 321 Sunbeam Bands, 44 Royal Ambassadors, making a total of 1,130 organizations.

These societies contributed last year to Foreign Missions, $13,000; to Home Missions, $7,873; to State Missions, $6,414; to the Training School, $1,365; to the Margaret Home, $174; to the Orphanage, $598; to the Sunday School Board, $210; to Aged Ministers, $228; making a total of $30,000.

They propose for 1910 to aim higher, and have suggested that they try to raise $14,000 for Foreign Missions, and $11,000 for Home Missions, and $6,000 for State Missions, $1,000 for a new chapel for the orphans.

The Young Woman's Auxiliaries are supporting a missionary on the foreign field. The Sunbeam Bands and boys' societies, known as Royal Ambassadors are promoting missionary information and interest among the young people. The Mission Study Classes, mainly among the women of our churches, are a mighty influence for missionary zeal. We look for large things in the near future from the study of our mission fields.

In the 35 Associations of our State, all save one have organized mission work; yet there are 50,000 women, members of our churches who are not identified with this organized work.

We offer the following recommendations:

1. We earnestly urge our pastors to give assistance and encouragement to the women of their churches that all of them may become interested in the great missionary enterprise.

2. We urge upon pastors to encourage the organization of Mission Study Classes, not one, but several in each church: one class should not number more than six to ten members.

3. We note that the Woman's Missionary Society was first organized to foster Foreign Mission interest alone. The women have gone beyond their first aim and are now working for Home and State Missions, and the Orphanage, and the Missionary Training School, The Sunday School Board, the Missionary Home, and Aged Ministers.

We respectfully suggest that it would be peculiarly appropriate and worthy of them if our women would take under their helping hand the important work of Christian Education.

Respectfully submitted,

R. W. LIDE,
G. N. COWAN,
HOWARD LEE JONES.

REPORT OF WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION.

There are anniversaries that stand out in bold relief against the monotonous back ground of our lives; and in the inmost canctuary of every heart there is a shrine upon which burn the fires of sacred, tender memories. The remembrance of the seventh anniversary of the Woman's Missionary Union with its attendant joys rises as sweetest fragrance, and we come before you today asking you to share with us our happiness, and to listen with patience as we give a short resume of our work.

Seven years ago the report of the W. M. Union read: 287 W. M. Societies, 61 Bands, and $6,789.05 contributed to all objects. Last month at Greenwood the year's report showed 608 W. M. Societies, 157 Young Woman's Auxiliaries, 321 Sunbeam Bands, 44 Royal Ambassador Chapters, and $33,882.99 in cash and boxes.

While we view our record with pardonable pride; yet we reverently say, "What hath God wrought," and give him all the glory. The Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to this Convention, has, in the providence of God, and under his direction, come into active, glorious life; the influences it has set in motion will never rest, but will extend and widen to the eternal shore. Like a mighty engine, new, shining and complete, it stands upon the track of God's eternal purpose, moving gently, quietly, but with gradually accelerated speed—driven by the breath of the Divine One, and carrying its precious burden of lives, devoted heart and soul to the King's business.

Only one Association in our borders remains to be reached—in Dorchester we have not yet gained a foot hold. The other thirty-seven are alive with organized woman's work in each. New workers are constantly enlisting, and a spirit of inquiry is abroad. As nearly as can be estimated there are over 12,000 mission workers among us—women, girls, boys, and small children composing the number.

As a means of educating our workers along missionary lines, six Training Institutes were held during the past year. These proved so successful, the Executive Board decided at Greenwood to hold at least two of these each year in the future.

The W. M. Union has always rejoiced in the fact that it is auxiliary to the South Carolina Convention, looking to it for support and counsel. The bond between the two is now more complete than ever before, for we are now an auxiliary in every object fostered by the Convention. For two years past the Aged Minister's Fund and the Orphanage have been part of the Union's recognized work; this year Christian Education was added to the list. The Convention always devotes a time to the question of Temperance; at Greenwood the Union wishing to thoroughly co-operate with the Convention, and also to put itself upon record as being opposed to this evil, heartily passed a resolution expressing disapproval of the wide-spread whiskey advertisements in our newspapers. Nor is this all: with the remembrance of oft heard criticisms by the "lords of creation," and in accordance with the dictates of their own good sense, the women of the Union began to create sentiment by voting to abolish from God's house the monstrous millinery creations affected by so many.

Now, brethren of the Convention, is the Union not truly an auxiliary, and do you not thank God for it, and what it has accomplished. Unity of thought and oneness of purpose are glorious things, and wonderful opportunities present themselves to both the Convention and the Union—that of taking part with Jesus Christ as he goes forth "in splendid action to regain his Kingly rights."

Submitted for the Union,
MRS. A. L. CRUTCHFIELD, Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT ON YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK.

The importance of training our young people for active and effective service in our churches can not be over estimated. The demand for trained men in the business world is constantly increasing. Managers of large business eterprises are looking for men who know how. The wise young man of today realizes the importance of special training before entering into business. Moreover, some corporations are now providing training for their employees. This increases the need for training in our churches, lest it be said with more force: "The children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light." If the church is to solve the increasingly difficult problems of this commercial age, she must train her young people for the most effective leadership. We have the material in our churches with which to bring things to pass in the kingdom. But it is largely undeveloped, raw material. We cannot afford to let it remain in this state.

The supreme object of the B. Y. P. U. is to train for service in the church. This it endeavors to do, first by giving an opportunity for the free exercise of gifts under wise supervision that efficiency may be attained through intelligent practice. This plan for successful training has stood the test of the ages. In this way leaders are discovered, and immedately brought into active, and soon into effective service in the church. Second, it offers Bible and mission study courses, which means the salvation of our future mission enterprise, since knowledge on missions leads to conviction, and conviction leads to action. When a Christian accepts service as his business, he must learn what is to be done, and how to best do it.

We know that many churches, in our State are better prepared for service, because of the B. Y. P. U. But facts are so meagre and difficult to obtain, that it is impossible to make anything like a full report of what is being done for our young people. At our thirteenth annual B. Y. P. U. State Convention, which met in Florence last April, thirty-four Unions were represented by ninety-seven delegates. These facts alone show that our people as a whole have never committed themselves to the B. Y. P. U. as the best method for training our young people in Christian service. With the rapid development of the Sunday Schools and the organization of Baraca and Philathea classes, we often hear the old question, "Is the B. Y. P. U. a permanent agency?" It is believed by some that the organized class, together with the Sunday School Board's Teacher Training Course, and the Foreign Mission Board's courses on missions can do for our young people practically the same that the B. Y. P. U. proposes, thus saving to the denomination the cost of maintaining a separate organization. This means much since to push successfully the B. Y. P. U. in our State would require no small fund.

We believe that the B. Y. P. U. should hold its annual State Convention at the same time and place as the Baptist Assembly. The committee desire that the Convention discuss fully the work of the Baptist Young People's Union.

C. A. WATERS,
W. W. WILLIAN.

REPORT ON HOME MISSIONS.

The purpose of Home Missions may be clearly expressed in these words of Rev. John Jeter Hurt: "* * * to use this country as a platform from which to preach a pure gospel to the world."

The means with which this is to be effected are the 2,150,000 members of Baptist churches in the South, and their ability to give to the cause of Christ nearly $50,000,000, if their wealth was only tithed.

The materials in this country to be brought under contribution to this great undertaking are as follows: The 3,000,000 adults, now under the direct influence of the Baptist denomination, to be saved; the immigrants pouring into the Southwest at the rate of 100,000 per month, to be saved; the 500,000 foreign born and the 160,700 Indians in the same section, west of the Mississippi, to be saved; the 2,000,000 of our Southern people in the Southern Appalachian mountains, to be educated; all the material resources of this country, to be brought to the service of our Lord, if the people are gathered into his kingdom. "It is easy to conceive of the time when the Spirit of the Son of Man shall work its way into all human enterprises, and government and commerce and material industry shall become as specifically Christian as the investment that now finds expression in foreign missions."—Dwight Mallory Pratt in Homiletic Review, January, 1909. In this list must be included Cuba and Isle of Pines and Panama; for these are destined to play no small part in our wirld-wide work, because of their position relative to this country in view of the opening up of the passage by means of the Panama Canal.

Prospect and Promises.

The hope we have rises commensurate with this tremendous undertaking and we have the expectation of, at least, approximating its consummation. But it is a very unworldly hope. It comes to those who are either facing an impossible undertaking, as the world looks at it, or to those who, like Adoniram Judson, cast themselves upon the promises in the most forlorn hour. Yes, "The prospect is as bright as the promises of God." and we are strengthened by what has been, and by what is being, accomplished. Ten years ago the Home Mission Board reported $106,326.08; last year, ending with April, 1909, contributions had reached to $273,150.48. While this increase of more than one hundred percent. in ten years, has much in it that is heartening, we are to look for an increase in offerings far beyond this ratio. Our enlargement in gifts of money must be in proportion to the progress of our Lord's kingdom in our country, and to our reasonable consecration to his ever broadening service. Such is the ground and some of the expectations of our hope; and, added to this, the quick, direct and large returns, which experience has taught us to look for, from the work in the West. Texas, itself, still a monstrous mission field, has given to the denomination in twenty years, to home and foreign missions alone, $639,012. Then, there looms large the prospect from the mountain sections, where there are at present 4,316 pupils in our mission schools. From this source we may reasonably expect an increase of a thousand fold.

Numbers, Faith and Ideals.

This hope is well grounded, also, in view of the advantages of Southern Baptists. Is Mr. Edmonds using the exaggeration of an enthusiast, merely, when he speaks of the South's destination to become a world's center, and that to the Baptists of the South has been given a position never before given to any denomination in the world's history? We say, is he speaking wildly or is this the vision of the spiritually minded, that of the true seer? Our superior numbers; our simple New Testament (creedless) faith; our pure democratic ideals, putting us in the lead in this democratic country; our growing conviction and knowledge of the individual's "capacity for communion with God," through Christ, and his worth to society, leading him out of self into unselfish service; our cherished heritage of a declaration of purpose for the evangelization of the whole world, strenghtening the stakes that we may lengthen the cords, all these bring us into such accord with the Divine will as to secure to us the Divine favor. And such is the vantage ground of the Baptist denomination of the South; and our responsibility is to be measured thereby.

The Pastor to Lead.

We must rise up and meet this situation: all our people must rise up and meet this unequaled situation; and the pastors are the leaders. The pastor must lead in seeking knowledge of all that is to be known, in his day, of the kingdom and the word of his Lord and of the Lord himself, and he must place this knowledge where the people can reach it. He muust, also, lead in liberal giving, in increased liberality. When the leaders took the lead in Israel, in the days of Deborah and Barak, then the people offered themselves willingly, and Jehovah went down with them against the mighty. "My heart is toward the governors of Israel that offered themselves willingly among the people."

J. D. HUGGINS, for Committee.

REPORT ON FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The problem of missions is the problem of the ages and upon its successful solution depends the destiny of the world. As Bishop Huntington has said: "Every impulse and stroke of missionary power on earth is from the heart of Christ. He sows, and there is a harvest. He touches nations, and there arises a brotherhood, not only civilized by his light, but sanctified by his love. The isles of the ocean wait for him. He spreads his net and gathers of every kind, and lo! the burden of the sea is not only fishes, but fishermen, who go and gather and come again. If there are activity, free giving, ready going, a full treasury, able men who say, 'Here am I, send me,' it is because through all the organization Christ lives, and his personal Spirit works. There is no other possible spring for that enthusiasm."

Those who believe in Foreign Missions proceed upon the foundation doctrine that God is building his temple in the world for his own habitation. The Holy Spirit is the Master Builder and he builds following the plan of the Owner. The triumphs of Foreign Missions mean that God's will is being done for which we are taught to pray.

There can be no question but that the Holy Spirit knocks at the door of every man's heart and at the door of every church in which he does not dwell in his fulness and he knocks in the interest of the grandest enterprise that has ever commanded the attention of mankind. The failures of the church to evangelize the world means that by many the call has gone unheeded. The present age is great by means of its opportunities and the opportunities of Foreign Missions are the greatest of them all. In our time God has given great leaders and more or less perfected machinery, and we rejoice in the success achieved but deplore the failure. The fact that within the last Conventional year a fine opportunity in China, offered by the citizens of a certain city had to go unused because a medical missionary could not be found, gives food for sober reflection and a call for prayer. The fields are white and there are not enough laborers and yet the number of the laborers seems to keep pace with the amount of money given by the churches. The greatest need now is a revival of prayer. To use the machinery we have, we need more power. Many of our people seem to have lost connection with the great source of Power.

Great and impassioned appeals have a response but it is not adequate. We would urge a renewed study of the Ministry of Intercession. Do we realize that we pray and God opens doors, people give money, and men and women give their lives. A pastor who really prays for Foreign Missions always works for Foreign Missions. The laymen who really pray for Foreign Missions always give liberally to the great work. And we would urge definite, continued, and intelligent prayer; for the Secretaries and the Boards; for the missionaries by name; for the churches and pastors that are indifferent or dead to the surpassing call. It is a fact that a revival of prayer would mean an increase of power, gifts, efficiency and largest success. The recent will of a man in New York provides some $5,000,000.00 for Foreign Missions. This suggests that our Board is emphasizing the value and desirability of legacies providing for our Foreign Work. Pastors could do a good work in calling attention to this.

Much emphasis is now being placed upon the value of education. Mission Study Classes are being organized all over our land. This unquestionably is a movement in the right direction and we are beginning to realize its possibilities. The pastor has the key to the mission study problem.

We note with satisfaction a tendency to intension rather than extension in the work. One missionary with a good church building and better equipment is better than a half dozen missionaries preaching in rented halls and with an equipment which is a reproach.

The Foreign Mission Journal for December reports South Carolina as having given to Foreign Missions this year $9,-909.82. Our Committee on Apportionment has said we ought to give for the year $46,000.00. Half the year is gone, and this means that our churches continue to neglect the grace of systematic giving. We are glad that efforts to remedy this defect are being made. The suggested Calendar Schedule sent out to the Associations is a decided movement in the right direction. We urge upon the Executive Committees of the various Associations to have printed a large card with the suggested schedule for their Association and send a card to each church to be placed in a prominent place in the building, and then if the pastors urge the people to give in accordance with the plan, the good results will be manifested ere we meet in another Convention.

This year at the Southern Baptist Convention, many were singing the praises of South Carolina in being one State to give more than the apportionment. May we not take a commendable pride in doing as well for the next year?

Progress has been made during the year in the Laymen's Movement, due to the wisdom and zeal of some of our consecrated and leading laymen. We desire to commend their efforts and pledge our smypathy and support. The W. B. M. U. has done a good work and the ladies manifest much enthusiasm. The men would do well in some parts to look to their laurels.

We desire, also, in this report to acknowledge the good work in behalf of Foreign Missions done in the Sunday Schools and Young People's Societies. Happy the pastor who keeps Foreign Missions before the children and young people. He is doing a work which will result in multiplied good. We call attention to the sixth International Convention of the Student Volunteers to be held in Rochester, N. Y., December 29th, 1909, and hope that all of our colleges will be represented in that meeting.

We also call attention to the Laymen's meeting to be held in Coumbia, S. C., Jan. 17th, 1910, and hope that brethren from all parts of the State will be present.

In closing our report we would say that while the work is not as large and successful as all could desire, and as we all hope to live to see, yet we have cause for thanksgiving because of the success God has granted.

Recent information sent out by our Foreign Board is as follows: "There were sent out during last year 21 new missionaries. We have now on the field 231 missionaries and 375 native helpers, making a total of 606 workers. There were 259 churches and 559 out-stations, with a total membership of 16,-596. There are 162 houses of worship; 325 Sunday Schools with a total of 10,430 scholars. These churches with the missionaries contributed last year $40,287. There are 128 day schools with 3,269 scholars; nine boys' boarding schools with 428 scholars, and thirteen girls' boarding schools with 586 scholars; two colleges with 100 students; four women's training schools with 37 students, and eight theological training schools with 176 students."

"We have 13 medical missionaries, 3 hospitals, eleven dispensaries with a total number of patients last year of 42,659. All of these patients, with their friends and relatives, heard the gospel before they received treatment." "We have four excellent printing plants, which sent out during the year hundreds of thousands of religious tracts, periodicals, books and Bibles in the languages of the various countries. The colporteur often accompanies the missionary, and sometimes goes into distant places which the missionary does not reach." "One of the results of these labors was the baptism last year of 2,905 converts, but the largest results due to the leavening power of the gospel among the people, cannot be tabulated."

In reading the Scriptures we find that nothing is said about failure in this great work. Our Saviour gave the simple, clear, and direct command, "Go ye and make disciples of all the nations" and success is implied. Our Saviour manifested a spirit of sublime optimism. He talked of, planned, and made possible the salvation of the world. He explained the conditions of success, trust and obedience, and let all remember, he is depending on us.

REPORT ON THE LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT.

The committee appointed by this Convention at its last session to have charge of the Laymen's Missionary Movement met at Greenville, S. C., January 6th, last and adopted a set of rules as a guide in more effectually developing the Movement in our denomination in this State. Endeavoring to carry out the rules correspondence was had with leading laymen in each Association with a view of securing their help and co-operation in the work.

As a result of this effort promises were obtained from brethren who agreed to take the leadership in the following Associations: Abbeville, Aiken, Barnwell, Beaverdam, Black River, Chester, Colleton, Edgefield, Florence, Kershaw, Laurens, North Greenville, Pee Dee, Pickens, Ridge, Saluda, Spartanburg, York, Fairfield, Waccamaw and Santee. To each of these literature, instructions and pledge cards were sent and they were urged to press the work.

Although no report has been received from any of these leaders as prescribed by the rules, except Colleton, we feel sure that effective work has been done and the cause of our Master advanced. In some of these Associations laymen's meetings and mission rallies have been held, and in several instances the results were beyond our hopes. Wherever the work has been pressed or properly presented blessings have attended the efforts.

In the Pickens Association the contributions have more than doubled, the membership of the churches increased and one young man offered himself for the foreign field. In two churches of the Saluda Association the contributions more than doubled and two young men offered themselves for the foreign field.

In the Greenville, North Greenville, and Beaverdam many rallies have been held and great good accomplished. Nothing definite can be reported with reference to the other Associations but it is hoped that at our next Convention we can report greater increases and development of the work in every Association.

This Movement is a church builder at home as well as an agency for the spreading of the good news of salvation in all the world, and we want the co-operation and help of all the laymen and the pastors.

Respectfully submitted,
C. E. ROBINSON, for Committee.

REPORT ON TEMPERANCE.

One of the most significant movements in modern times is that in favor of temperance. Public sentiment no longer tolerates dram-drinking to such a degree as formerly, and the sale of alcoholic beverages is being prohibited in many States, counties, and municipalities and greatly restricted in others. The capitalists who control great corporations are a valuable asset of the temperance forces, as the employees of these corporations are forbidden to drink or smoke cigarettes. Recently the owners of the coal mines of the Pittsburg district in Pennsylvania granted their employees certain financial concessions, but absolutely refused to abolish the rule against drinking. Until the last few years most physicians occasionally prescribed alcoholic drink as medicine, but nearly all up-to-date physicians have abandoned its use almost altogether.

The scientists have now come to the aid of the temperance reformers. Within the year, three German physicians of world renown as medical experts have proven by experiment that alcohol has an injurious effect on a healthy man, and a more injurious effect on a sick one. Our own President and the German Emperor, two of the world's greatest rulers, have become total abstainers, and legislators have shown a determination to curb this evil which is far in advance of any thing ever witnessed before.

In our own beloved State fifteen counties have thurst out the liquor traffic, leaving only six counties, about one-seventh of the State, now engaged in the traffic. In five of these six wet counties the vote showed the people to be nearly evenly divided, a change of a few hundred votes would have put all the State, except Charleston county, in the prohibition class.

The fight is not over. We must keep up the good work in order to hold what we have gained. Temperance sentiment must be inculcated in every practicable way. Only thus can we train the coming generation to be real prohibitionists in practice as well as in theory. What does law have to do with all this? Some people seem to think that laws are to be treated as we so often treat resolutions: resolve, dissolve, absolve. Our legislators influenced by tender sentiments or the desire to do something, pass laws. Then the law-makers adjourn or dissolve, and the members absolve themselves from responsibility for enforcement of or obedience to the laws. Even sworn officers tacitly neglect or refuse to enforce laws which may be distasteful to them.

Commonwealths and individuals are much alike. The normal individual is self-controlled, and his fixed principles are the officers and his customs and habits the methods by which his personal decrees are enforced. So, laws are the methods by which a community is controlled. But, nations must first learn to be controlled by authority. Afterwards they learn how to control themselves in accordance with the laws whereby they choose to be governed. The function of laws in a republican commonwealth is to crystalize and enforce the regulations which are needed to develop the best interests and secure the greatest progress of society. In their province, laws have the sanction of divine authority. "The powers that be are ordained of God, whoso resisteth the power resisteth the ordinance of God." It is proper for Christians to use every legitimate effort to have laws enacted that are good, and officers elected who will faithfully endeavor to enforce them. Yet, we have no alternative but to obey every law of the State whether or not we may approve of it.

The problem of civilization is the problem of law and its enforcement. Happy is the State that succeeds in avoiding the enforcement of law by means of a military despotism in the hands of an arbitrary ruler on the one hand or the failure of all law resulting in anarchy on the other hand. The anarchist most to be dreaded in our State is not the man who opposes government per se, but the man who deliberately disregards those laws which are distasteful to him, being restrained only by the fear of punishment; and the man who suffers others to violate the law with impunity and never lifts his hand or his voice to assist the officers in bringing them to justice.

What, then, can the temperate, self-controlled, individual do to promote temperance?

1. He can help by his example in refraining absolutely from the use of those stimulants and narcotics which bring untold injury to others.

2. He can curb his own appetites and passions, especially the spirit of lawlessness, thus letting his "moderation be known of all men."

3. He can give his moral support to those who would escape from the thraldom of appetite.

4. He can cast his vote and influence for men who are temperate themselves and will heartily support the enactment and enforcement of laws in the interest of temperance.

5. He can give the proper moral and material support to the officers of the law, and thus "approve the things that are excellent."

6. He can pray publicly and privately for the officers of the law including the policemen; remembering the words of the great Apostle in I. Tim. 2:1-2: "I exhort therefore, first of all, that supplications, prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings, be made for all men; for kings and all that are in high place; that we may lead a tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity."

REPORT ON EVANGELISM.

At few periods of the church's history has its attention been so generally directed to the subject of Evangelism. It is being felt more and more that the church or the pastor that is not evangelistic is missing the mark. "Evangelism," in the words of Dr. Mullins, "is one of the most tremendous of all the agencies of Christianity." Every one of us may learn if we are willing that the church that is not evangelistic will soon cease to be evangelical.

Many of us recall how it was after prolonged effort by some of our most consecrated brethren that the Southern Baptist Convention at Chattanooga at last authorized the Home Mission Board to establish a department of Evangelism. The memorable speeches on this great living theme will never be forgotten by those who heard them. That was only two years ago. Note carefully the opening sentences of the report on this subject in the last report of the Home Mission Board: "One of the most pleasing things to our Board is the endorsement that our evangelistic work is receiving from the Baptist brotherhood. So far as we know the pastors and churches feel that this is one of the greatest of the many doors of usefulness into which our Board has entered." That report shows 9 evangelists in the field, 4,732 professed conversions, 1,999 baptisms, 1,063 received by letter and restoration, in all 3,062 additions to the churches where meetings were held.

The State Mission Board has charge of this work for our State. Three evangelists have been in service for the past year, two for 11 months and one for 6 months. The results of their labor have been: 530 baptisms, 68 by letter, and 37 restorations, a total of 635.

In addition to this work fostered and directed by the Boards, the churches and pastors within our bounds have done a far greater work, a work of their own, of which the statistics can not be gathered and tabulated. But after all has been said I fear that we do not really know the fundamental importance of prayerful, direct, expectant efforts to preach the gospel for immediate decision of the lost to trust Christ as personal Saviour and of Christians to yield their lives to his gracious, mighty control.

There are some serious defects to which we would call attention:

1. The failure of many pastors to plan for an evangelistic campaign. We have been making many brilliant dashes but we have not learned to lay siege week after week until every obstacle was removed and we had gained a great victory for Christ. Nothing but a systematic, determined, unrelenting siege will suffice for the sad spiritual state of many churches and communities. We must not only enter the fight with indomitable courage, we must hold on against obstacles and opposition and press the battle unto the very gates of hell, if we would transform our churches and rescue the lost.

2. A sad lack of personal work by pastors as well as by laymen. Only a few of us seem to know that the kingdom of Christ can be most successfully enlarged and strengthened by the very methods which are most potent in the business world of today, the method of personal solicitation with the expectation and determination to succeed. "Winning men one by one" was the Master's own method of work.

3. A lack of passion for the salvation of men. Have we forgotten that Jesus said, "As my Father sent me into the world I also have sent you into the world," and that he said that to the men whom he had taught that the mission of the Son of Man was "to seek and save the lost?" We may feed and clothe men, we may sympathize with them and comfort them in their sorrows, but if we do not take them upon our hearts and pray for them and bring them to Jesus we have missed the mark and lost our great opportunity.

We would recommend two things:

1. That our State Mission Board enlarge its evangelistic force as rapidly as good men for the work can be secured and our funds will justify.

2. That every church in the State plan for an evangelistic campaign of at least three or four weeks at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully submitted,

LEWIS M. ROPER, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON JOHNSON MONUMENT.

The Committee on Johnson Monument report as follows: After many efforts and a great deal of work we have collected in cash about $100.00. The monument we have selected and placed at the grave of Dr. Johnson cost us in round numbers, including expenses $180.00. We had expected to erect a monument to cost about $500.00, but the responses to our appeal were so few, and the interest manifested in the work so little, we found it necessary to cut down our ideas to the measure of our funds and expectations from the floor of the Convention. We have done what we could in the circumstances and the results are before us. At the request of the Committee, Prof. Cook has prepared a sketch of Dr. Johnson's life, which will be printed in the minutes of this Convention.

J. W. QUATTLEBAUM, Chairman.

REPORT ON CALENDAR SCHEDULE.

Your committee to consider the Calendar Schedule which has been submitted to our Associations by the State Board beg leave to report:

1. That we recommend that this Convention do hereby endorse the action of the various Associations of the State in the adoption of the proposed Schedule.

2. That it is the sense of this committee that the prosecution of this plan shall not in any wise embarrass any of our churches which are now working under a system, satisfactory to themselves and calculated to attain the end in view, but would urge that as far as practicable the proposed Schedule be observed in order that there be a greater uniformity of action on the part of our churches.

3. That in the opinion of this committee too great emphasis cannot be laid upon the importance of observing some definite plan by which the various boards of this Convention shall secure a regular income for carrying on the work committed to them.

4. That the Executive Board of this body be requested to furnish copies of this Schedule to the churches of each Association in such form as it may think best.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON OBITUARIES.

Rev. A. D. Bowers.

Rev. A. D. Bowers died at his home near Glassey Mountain Church, Greenville county, Tuesday, February 2, 1909. He was born, near where he died, February 22, 1826. He married Miss Mary Center in 1846. They were childless. They reared two orphan boys, who became useful men.

Brother Bowers was ordained in 1861 by the Glassey Mountain Church, which church he afterwards served as pastor. During his ministry he served twenty-three churches, some of them for long terms, and helped to organize six new churches. The most of his labors were around his birth-place in the northern part of Greenville county and on the North Carolina side of the mountains. His education was very limited, yet he labored incessantly.

It is said he knew all the by-ways and paths in the mountains and much of his traveling was on foot, searching out the homes in the coves and hollows of the mountains, visiting the sick and the distressed. He stoutly opposed the liquor business, which was a terrible curse to his community in his day. He spoke against it boldly in private and public.

On account of the infirmities of age he had retired from active work in the ministry twelve or fifteen years ago. His wife had preceded him several years to the heavenly world.

Rev. Manning Austin Connors.

Was born in Greenville county July 3rd, 1866. He was the youngest son of Maj. G. W. Connors.

During his boyhood the subject of this memoir learned the art of printing in the office of the Greenville Mountaineer, and for some years later continue to exercise his knowledge of this art in the office of The Baptist Courier.

It was during this period of his life that he attended a series of meetings at the First Baptist Church, Greenville, conducted by Dr. W. T. Derieux, at which time he was led to Christ, Rev. Ransom J. Williams being of much assistance, in a personal way, in leading him into the light.

He at once began taking an active interest in church and city mission work. Many were the prisoners of the Greenville jail, in those days, who learned to love him in return for the Christ-like interest manifested by him in their spiritual welfare.

In September, 1887, he matriculated as a ministerial student at Furman University. During his student days at Furman Bro. Connors was pastor of Forestville and other churches near Greenville. In the First Baptist Church, Greenville, Jan. 1st, 1891, he was ordained to the gospel ministry; his ordaining council being composed of Doctors James C. Furman, J. A. Mundy, Charles Manly, T. M. Bailey and J. K. Mendenhall, with Dr. Furman as chairman.

In February 1892, he went to Washington, D. C., to become pastor of the West End and City Missions, where he labored one and a half years. In connection with his work with these two churches, he continued his course in Columbian University.

In October 1893 he entered Rochester Theological Seminary, where he graduated in May, 1896. During his course at Rochester he supplied the Baptist Church at Atica, N. Y.

After his graduation he returned to his native State, becoming pastor of Summerton and Calvary Churches in Clarendon county, succeeding at Calvary Rev. H. W. Mahoney, who had held the pastorate of this church continuously for 65 years.

Soon after assuming pastoral charge of these churches, Bro. Connors was married, Oct. 21, 1896, to Miss Mattie M. Staggers, of Greenville, S. C., daughter of the late Dr. J. M. Staggers, of Clarendon county. It is indeed worthy of note that this happy couple was called to labor at Calvary and Summerton, where their ancestors, the Connors and Tindals, worshiped for four generations.

This was indeed a fortunate and happy union, for to her husband Mrs. Connors ever proved an inspiring and helpful companion.

Bro. Connors' pastorate at Summerton and Calvary continued for about ten years. Here, perhaps, was done the greatest work of his life. From Summerton Bro. Connors went to Honea Path, accepting a call to the First Church of that place. His pastorate here was very successful. The membership of the church during his two years' pastorate increasing from about 200 to about 300. He had baptized during his pastorate here about 50 into the fellowship of the church. Every department of church work had advanced in even greater proportion than the membership.

"By his consecration, his devotion to duty, his tender consideration for all people and by his tact, he had won a place in the heart of every one. He was loved by the people of all denominations, as much perhaps as by the people of his own church. It is the good fortune of but few men to be so universally loved as he was."

Bro. Connors was deeply pious, a painstaking student, a laborious pastor, an attractive preacher and a sympathizing friend.

In addition to his work as pastor he was eminently useful as an evangelist, for which work he had great love and unusual fitness.

Rev. C. P. Ervin, D. D.

Clarence Pawley Ervin died in Philadelphia, Monday morning, February 22, whither he had gone for treatment. For some time he had been unwell, and his physicians decided that an operation was the only hope of recovery.

Dr. Ervin was born in Darlington, May 11, 1854. While yet a child his parents died, and he was reared in the home of his foster parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Dargan, the latter being his aunt. He was educated at Furman University and for two years, 1877-79, he attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

After completing his studies in Furman he taught school two years at Rockingham, N. C., and two years at Ansonville, N. C. Two years he taught in Furman University. He was a rare teacher, and some of his friends urged him to give his life to this work, but he felt it his duty to preach. He was pastor at Pendleton, 1882-5, and at Bamberg, 1886-1897. Here he did a splendid work, and during his pastorate a fine house of worship was erected. From Bamberg he went to Wellford, where he was pastor for several years. Subsequently he was pastor at Landrum and several other churches in that section of the State. For a number of years his home was at Landrum, where he lived till his death.

Dr. Ervin had been secretary of the Baptist State Convention since 1897, and died in office. He lived long enough to complete the minutes of the last Convention. He served his brethren in this position with singular fidelity and conspicuous ability. He was painstaking, accurate, and courteous, and his work was admirably done.

As a preacher Dr. Ervin was always thoughtful and scriptural and spiritual. In manner he was deliberate and simple, and his style was conversational. He always prepared with great care, for he was an accurate scholar and a close student. He was in close touch with the denominational enterprises, and had excellent executive ability. As a writer he was clear and concise and practical.

Dr. Ervin was quiet, modest and reserved. He was gentle and courteous, and thoughtful of the rights and comfort of others. He was one of the truest and purest men. At all times he was a gentleman, and in all conditions he was a true friend, candid, honest, helpful, considerate. We mourn his departure, for he has passed away in the prime of life, when it seems that the cause can ill spare men of his ability and character.

He was buried in the cemetery at Landrum. The services were conducted by Dr. L. M. Roper, assisted by I. W. Wingo, A. J. S. Thomas, J. L. Ouzts, and W. P. Smith.

Rev. J. E. Duren.

Rev. J. E. Duren, pastor of the Baptist Church at McCormick, died April 1, 1909. On Monday, the 15th of March, he was stricken with paralysis.

Bro. Duren was born and reared in Columbia, and died at 59 years of age. He married Miss Anna Stonaker. Of this union there were born seven children, five boys and two girls. Bro. Duren left a wife and six children.

He was ordained to the gospel ministry by the First Baptist Church of Columbia. He was pastor at South Side and Brooklyn Churches for some time; also at Woodlawn, Augusta, Ga. He was pastor at Wrightsville, Ga., for three years, and at Wadley, same State, for about seven years. From Wadley, he went to McCormick in the beginning of this year at the call of this church and Buffalo.

His work here was opening up finely. At his last service he had a crowded house. Only a few days before he was stricken he had moved into a new pastorium. He had a bright prospect for usefulness before him here.

The funeral services were held in the Second Baptist Church, Augusta, Bro. Thos. Walker officiating. The interment took place in the city cemetery.

Rev. William Brown.

Rev. William Brown, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Anderson, died Saturday night, May 22. He had been in declining health for two years, but was able to attend to his ministerial duties to within a few days of his death. Bro. Brown was born in Anderson county July 7, 1844. He joined the Flat Rock Church in 1867 and was ordained by that church in 1894, since which time he gave his life to the ministry and his labors were abundant and fruitful. He was pastor of the Second Church, Anderson, for about fourteen years. He was loved by his church and enjoyed the confidence of the people wherever he was known.

Bro. Brown never enjoyed the advantages of an early education, but he was a man of strong native intellect, and was a loving student of God's word. He was a plain man, and his preaching plain and practical, but earnest and forceful, and his ministry was blessed of God. At the time of his death he was serving Whitefield Church, in connection with the Second Church, Anderson. He is survived by his widow and five children.

Rev. D. D. Richardson.

Rev. D. D. Richardson died in Anderson, Sunday night, June 20, 1909. He was fatally injured in a collision between an automobile and an interurban trolley car.

Rev. D. D. Richardson, who was so suddenly cut down in the act of trying to meet his appointments, was pastor of the Second Church, Belton, the Gluck Mill Church, Anderson, and the Dorchester Church. He had been on this field for about two years. He was previously pastor of the Second Church, Union. He was a useful minister, a wise worker, and a man of considerable force, and a very lovable brother. He had the love and the esteem of the people and his death was a great loss to the cause, and brought sincere sorrow to the people where he had labored.

Bro. Richardson was a native of Greenville county, and was born August 2, 1873. He was a graduate of Furman University, and afterwards attended the Seminary. He was a son of the late Geo. W. Richardson, a Baptist deacon, and for several years a member of the legislature, and at different times held other offices in the county of Greenville.

Rev. John F. Morrall.

Rev. John F. Morrall died at the home of his son, Mr. N. G. Morrall, in Walterboro, Friday afternoon, October 15. He passed away suddenly, it is supposed of heart failure. The account published in the daily papers, said: "Mr. Morrall had finished dinner and was sitting on the piazza with his son, when he leaned back as though going to sleep and expired. He had seemed in good health that morning and had said he felt better than for some time before."

Brother Morrall was born in Beaufort August 24, 1828. He came from a good family, and was reared in a home of affluence, refinement and culture, and throughout a long life by his gentlemanly bearing and cultivated tastes he showed the fine effects of his early training. He was educated at Furman University, and the Theological Institute. He was ordained in Charleston June 27, 1858. In 1858 and '59 he was pastor at Darien, Ga. In 1860-'62 at Euhaw, S. C., at Robertville, 1863-'64, Aiken, 1868-'69, two years at Griffin, Ga., and returned to this State and became agent of State Missions for several years. He was subsequently pastor of churches in the Savannah River Association, of which body he was moderator for a number of years. In more recent years he was pastor at Timmonsville, and more recently at Allendale. He retired from the active work of the ministry at the close of his Allendale pastorate.

Bro. Morrall was a man of strong intellect, and he was a good student and read extensively. He was an able preacher of the Word, loyal to the Scriptures, and especially strong in the fundamental doctrines and the distinctive principles of Baptists. He believed with his whole mind and strength, and loved to preach the New Testament views which belonged peculiarly to Baptists.

He was a man of tender and refined sensibilities, modest and gentle, courteous and affable, a gentleman of the "old school," and he loved his brethren with a great wealth of affection. Although at times he differed from them in matters of belief and policy, yet he did it from a sense of conscious duty and with the best of motives.

Brother Morrall lived a long and useful life. He had the confidence and respect and love of the brethren wherever he was known. His end was peace, and so far as we know he passed out without pain and suffering. His wife preceded him to the heavenly home some four years ago. His remains were taken to Allendale for interment.

Joshua Hillary Hudson.

Judge Joshua H. Hudson died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. W. A. Williams, in Greenville, Thursday, July 22.

Judge Hudson was born in Chester, January 29th, 1832. His father, Dabney Hudson, was born in Amherst county, Virginia, and came to this State in his youth. Judge Hudson's parents were good people, and he tells of attending the Baptist Church in his childhood, and the habit that was formed then followed him through his long life, for he was always a regular attendant upon church services, long before he was a professor of religion and a member of the church. He was always a good listener, interested and sympathetic.

In December, 1852, he graduated from the South Carolina College. A few weeks after he was elected principal of the Male Academy at Bennettsville, and at once entered upon his work and taught many of the boys who became prominent and useful men in Marlboro county. When he returned from the Confederate Army he again entered the school room and taught half a year in Bennettsville, until he resumed the practice of law, into which profession he had entered previous to the war. Thoroughness and fidelity, which ever characterized him, were the traits that made him famous as a teacher of youth.

He was a brave and faithful soldier in the Confederate Army. He entered as a private, and rose to the position of Lt. Colonel, ranking as Colonel at the close of the war. He bore on his person the scar of the bullet which came very near taking his life. This wound was received in the battle at Five Forks, April, 1865, and he fell into hands of the enemy, but they gave him all the attention possible. He received medical treatment at the hands of the Surgeon of General Grant, who became vitally interested in the young officer. Judge Hudson never forgot this kindness of General Grant, and carried in his heart sincere gratitude for this generous treatment as long as he lived. He never forgot his friends, whether they walked in the humblest or the highest ranks of life. Full of human kindness himself, he was happy to see it manifested in others and to others.

It is not necessary here to speak at length of Judge Hudson as a lawyer, jurist, senator, and other civil and political relations. His record is known to all the people of his State. They held him in the highest esteem, for they knew him as a man of unquestioned honesty and integrity. He was incapable of doing anything but what he conceived to be his duty to his State and his God. No fear of criticism, or desire of public favor, ever could swerve him from what he considered right and fair. He moved along straight lines, and he was not afraid to run counter to the views and opinions of others, in the performance of duty. With him the question was not, What is politic, or what is the public sentiment? but, What is right? That question settled in his own mind he pursued the even tenor of his way, but always as a gentleman, with charity for all and malice towards none.

Judge Hudson had a great struggle in his early years for an education. For the encouragement of struggling youth he has told in his own way the story of those early years. He never forgot the struggles of his earlier years, and was never ashamed of the poverty and suffering and sacrifices of those days. All this was a part of the divine plan fitting him to adorn the positions of honor and trust which he afterwards filled with such conspicuous ability, with honor to himself and credit to his State. His early experience, too, gave him a kind heart, and a generous sympathy for the poor and needy, which was one of his shining virtues. He believed in the people, and he believed in the common people.

Better than all, and above all, Judge Hudson was a Christian. He recognized himself a sinner saved by grace. In his religious experience and life there was a child-like faith in the word of God and the eternal verities that was charming and inspiring. He was a member of the Bennettsville Baptist Church, and his brethren, believing in his piety and worth, made him a deacon. He was chosen by them moderator of the Pee Dee Association, and later in 1896, he was elected president of the Baptist State Convention, and served in this capacity two years. He was, for a number of years, a member of the board of trustees of Furman University, and for several years he was a trustees of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. In these several positions he served his brethren with marked ability and singular fidelity, and voluntarily surrendered these offices, not because he felt any less interest in the work, but because he felt he could no longer carry the burdens, and because he felt that others might be more useful. These honors came to him altogether unsought, for he was no place-seeker, and in the work of the church he considered himself a learner and not a teacher, a fellow-worker and not a leader.

His body was taken to Bennettsville, his home for over fifty-six years, and there laid to rest, by the side of his wife, Mary Miller, who became his bride, May 4, 1854. The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Chas. A. Jones. A former pastor, Rev. Rufus Ford, and the Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopal ministers assisted in the services. Before leaving for Bennettsville, brief services were held at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Williams, where he breathed his last. The services were conducted by Dr. Cody, Brethren Rufus Ford, R. W. Sanders and A. J. S. Thomas taking part.

Alexander S. Townes.

Professor A. S. Townes died at Clemson College, Friday, November 26. He spent his years, and gave his best thought and energies, to the cause of education. By his kindliness, gentleness of manners, genuine sympathy for the young, and his interest in their highest good, he won the confidence and affection of his pupils in a marked degree. Those who taught with him and under him held him in the same high esteem, and his patrons always felt that their daughters were under the best influence in his school. He was a faithful teacher, and successful.

Professor Townes was born and reared in Greenville. His father, Col. G. F. Townes, was for many years one of the most prominent men in the upper part of the State, a lawyer of great ability, and one of the most influential members in the Greenville Baptist Church, and a conspicuous figure in the life of the denomination. Professor Townes was a graduate of Furman University, the class of 1860. He served four years in the Confederate Army. After the war he studied in the German Universities, at Heidleberg and Leipsic, for two years. He then entered the school room and devoted his life to teaching till about two years ago when he retired. He taught in Rome, Georgia, in Edgefield county, and became President of the Greenville Female College in 1878, which position he filled till 1894, when he became President of the Greenville College for Women. Under his administration the Greenville Female College reached a high degree of prosperity and efficiency.

Professor Townes took an active interest in denominational affairs and for many years he was a member of the State Mission Board. He was an active member of the First Baptist Church, for many years a teacher in the Sunday school, and a liberal supporter of all the denominational enterprises. He was firm in his convictions, true to his principles, and consistent in life. He was a man of liberal culture, a careful student, a wide reader, and unusually well informed on general literature, history, and all current events and the questions of the day.

Professor Townes had been living at Clemson College for about two years. The funeral service was held November 28, at the First Baptist Church, Greenville, and the interment in the Springwood cemetery. He is survived by his widow and five children.

L. F. Dorn, of Parksville, died October 19, 1909. He was killed instantly by the train at Trenton, S. C. Brother Dorn was one of the most prominent and useful laymen in his section of the State, a very active member of the Parksville Church. for seceral years moderator of the Edgefield Association, and for a number of years a member of the Board of Trustees of Furman University. He was always ready for service and liberal with his means.

A large number of other useful laymen have passed away, who are worthy of mention in this connection although not conspicuous in the meetings of the Convention:

Dr. H. V. Westmoreland, the beloved physician, the friend of all the people, died at his home in Greer, June 4. He was a member of the First Church, Greer.

Dr. J. G. Duckworth, another successful physician, and a friend of the poor and needy, died at his home, Anderson county, February 10. He was a useful member and a deacon of the Lebanon Church.

W. F. Samples, a deacon of the North Augusta Church, died May 23. He was born in Edgefield county in 1863. He was a successful business man and a wise Christian worker.

R. A. Lewis died in the hospital in Baltimore, November 10. He was one of the most active Christian workers of the First Church, Belton. He was a man of large business sagacity, a liberal giver, and a devoted Christian.

Charles E. Watson, deacon of the Pendleton Street Church, Greenville, for many years Sunday school superintendent, died September 14, aged 69. He was faithful to every trust committed to him.

J. E. Pettigrew, a deacon of Ebenezer Church, near Florence, died January 20. For several years he was moderator of the Florence Association, and at one time Senator from Florence county.

Thomas L. Freeman, father of the three preachers, D. C., John L., and J. E. Freeman, member of Brushy Creek Church, Greenville county, died February 12. He was a man of sterling Christian character and of unblemished record.

W. J. Sanders, of Fairfax, one of the leading laymen in his section of the State, died January 18, aged 76.

Dr. D. S. Watson, of the First Church, Anderson, known and loved in all this section of the State, died April 18.

James S. Leggette, died at Clio, aged 86 years. For many years he was deacon of Judson Church, and later of the Clio. One of Marlboro's best men.

August J. Sitton, a man of large business capacity, of good record, deacon of the Pendleton Church, died March 14.

W. B. Bramlett, deacon of the First Church, Laurens, died April 26.

Joseph Nunnery, deacon of Harmony Church, Chester county, died June 23.

R. A. Turner, deacon of Johnston Church, died last January, aged 71 years.

Geo. A. Norwood, Greenville, died Sept. 18, 1909.

Deacon Joseph Whilden, Citadel Square Church, Charleston, died October 21, 1909.

No doubt there are many others, good, quiet workers, useful deacons, whose names have not been furnished the Committee, but whose names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

A SKETCH OF THE LIFE AND SERVICES OF W. B. JOHNSON.

The State Convention which met in Darlington in 1863 called for a sermon in honor of the memory of the late Dr. Johnson. At its conclusion, Rev. J. Scott Murray moved that a committee of one from each constituent of the body be appointed to raise funds to erect a monument over the remains of the honored brother.

Three years later, when the Convention met in Anderson in 1867, the committee reported "that in view of the gloomy present and gloomier future they have been unable to devise any plan for carrying out the object entrusted them, and regard it at present impracticable. They hope that in more favorable times it may still be accomplished."

This hoped for more favorable time has at length arrived. The recently appointed committee on the Johnson monument have brought out and set up in its appointed place, the shaft that had been waiting so many years in its granite bed, while the people were recovering from the unspeakable calamities which invariably follow the subversion of a higher by a lower civilization. And it is in deference to the wishes of the committee that the following sketch has been prepared for this occasion:

William Bullein Johnson, in whose honor the Convention pauses a moment today, began his public career as a minister in 1805. His first pastorate was furnished by the Euhaw Church, 1806-'08. Thence he removed to Columbia to study under President Maxcy. One term he served as chaplain for the State College and formed in October of 1809 the Columbia Church out of nine whites and four colored members. In 1811 he accepted a call to the church at Savannah and in 1813 welcomed Luther Rice and heartily seconded his efforts in forming the Triennial Convention for Missions. He issued an address to the people of Georgia and adjacent parts of South Carolina, in the name of the Savannah Society for Foreign Missions, which has been assigned the foremost place among the productions of that day. In 1835 Luther Rice bore this testimony: "After completing the range of travel and formation of mission societies, I had a conversation with Brother Johnson (at Savannah, 1813), on the subject of having a meeting of delegates from all the societies of this kind, for the purpose of forming some general combination or concert of action among them. He consented and engaged that, in case it should be agreed to by others concerned, he would go personally as a delegate from the Savannah society as far as Philadelphia to attend such a meeting. Immediately, of course, I wrote to all the other societies, stating the fact, and urging he importance of the meeting in Philadelphia, as proposed by Brother Johnson. This was agreed to by all the societies, which had then been formed, from Massachusetts to Georgia. The meeting was held accordingly in Philadelphia, in April, 1814; and thus, in the operations of Divine Providence, was brought about the formation of the Triennial Convention of the Baptist denomination of the United States for Foreign Missions and other important objects relating to the Redeemer's kingdom."

At the second meeting of the Triennial Convention, Mr. Johnson heard an address to the collected delegates which outlined a plan of education, the unfolding of a part of which was to claim the best years of his life and furnish an arena for the development of his latent into shining virtues. This address was delivered by Richard Furman, of Charleston, who had been president for 22 years of a small body called the General Committee of the Charleston Association, chartered for the purpose of ministerial education and afterwards enlarged so as to embrace home and foreign missions. As president of the Convention, and with his unique experience, Richard Furman was the one man in America who was entitled to speak with authority on the subject of an educated ministry. In a reference to this address by Mr. Johnson himself, it is stated that Dr. Furman "used his utmost efforts to impress upon each member, and through them upon the churches, the sacred importance of an able ministry and the obligation to make provisions for securing it. The impulse thus given eventuated in the establishment of the Hamilton Literary and Theological Seminary in New York and the Columbian College near Washington under the patronage of the Convention. The plan of the venerable presidet was the establishment of a central seminary of high order and institutions in each State in which students should be prepared for the central seminary."

Thus it was that live coals were carried from the Charleston Association to the Triennial Convention and kindled into an educational revival which was spread to remote parts by the agencies of the Convention, and most of all by Luther Rice. It followed Furman and Johnson back to their own homes to help in founding the Institution in this State.

Mr. Johnson was now living in Columbia in his own house, having resigned at Savannah, some say, at the close of 1815. His health was not good and to restore it he travelled northward, spent some time in Virginia and then went southward as far as New Orleans by water. A short while before he left Savannah, he had reached the conclusion that Baptist usage on some points of church order was unscriptural and stood several years, like Hercules at the forks of the road, undecided whether or not he should suppress his convictions as of minor importance. Finally he appeared with his letter before the church in Columbia and stated clearly the state of his mind, but added that he had been "led by a study of the Scriptures to consider unity among brethren as a thing of primary importance and that great sacrifices should be made for the attainment and preservation of so desirable an object." It was a timely discipline for him to undergo, if he was to preside successfully over so many bodies and boards, whose collective judgments used the pruning knife on competing plans without undue respect for persons.

He was now actively engaged with Dr. Furman in his efforts to organize the State Convention out of Associational delegates. In furtherance of this undertaking, he visited one or more Associations to explain its purposes, served on all important committees, and, judging from internal evidence, he had a hand in the wording of the Constitution.

In 1823 he was in Greenville. As a minister he preached in the Court House and extended his visits as opportunities offered. In 1824 Richard Furman preached his farewell sermon before the Convention from the text: "According to the grace of God, which is given unto me, as a wise master builder, I have laid the foundation and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereon." Like a noble hunting dog, starting on a cold trail and having followed it 33 years, he retires when almost in sight of the quarry, and goes limping and sore-footed home to die. He was succeeded by Dr. Manly in the pastorate and, after the death of J. B. Cook in 1832, also as president of the General Committee and as Moderator in the Charleston Association; and by Rev. Mr. Johnson as president of the Convention and chairman of the Board of Agents.

I 1826 the Convention met in Greenville, where less than three years previous Mr. Johnson had baptized the first white person. It was at this meeting that the Board decided to begin what was declared to be a primary object of the Convention—the origination and support of a Seminary of learning in the State. Several localities had presented inducements to secure the site of the school. Mr. Johnson who had lived in each section of the State, leaned toward the offers from Pendleton and Greenville, but a majority of the Board decided to accept the Edgefield offer. It was accordingly opened early in 1827, under the auspices of the Convention. His presence in Edgefield led to other important results. He was invited sometime after Dr. Manly's resignation, to become pastor of the Edgefield Church and principal of the Village Female Academy. At the close of 1830 he left the mountain village for his new field of labor, which was to continue over 22 years and was to be the base from which he would prosecute his varied and unwearied activities—in the church, in the school room, in the Association, in the Convention, in the Triennial Convention, in the Southern Baptist Convention and in the columns of religious and secular papers as a prolific writer on political, educational and religious subjects and in the interest of temperance and of the social and moral well being of the people.

The main stem in this many branched activity was the man and minister. There were vacations for the school and annual rests from his presiding duties, but wherever he went he was sure to find pulpits were ready to welcome him. However great the temptation to dwell upon his ministerial labors, the shortness of the hour narrows the scope of our sketch to his educational achievements.

The combined labors of Basil Manly, W. B. Johnson and their few coadjutors were at the High Hills and in Winnsboro little more successful than the toils of Sisyphus in rolling the stone up the hill; but after 1840 the Baptist brotherhood grew more wealthy, the Furman Theological Institution began to rise in the estimation of the public and the anti-slavery crusade was making Southern Schools a necessity.

In the forties the centre of gravity of Southern Baptists had moved up from the Charleston Association to the Edgefield. Basil Manly was in Alabama and Johnson was the undisputed leader in the State and in respect to missions and education he was hardly second to any one. In 1841 he was chosen President of the Triennial Convention and at the next one declined a nomination to that office as a peace offering to the Northern delegates. He was willing in the divisive hour to make all reasonable sacrifices to avoid, as he called it, "the demon of abolition." It was his conduct in these last warm sessions of the Triennial Convention and in presiding over the new Southern Convention that earned from an intelligent observer the appellation, "that prince of gentlemen." This rending of the denomination was watched with keen interest by a great Southern Statesman, who saw in it a snapping of the ecclesiastical cords which held the States together. In his last speech six years later, John C. Calhoun, in enumerating the already broken ties, declared that "the next cord (after the Methodists') that was snapped was that of the Baptists, one of the largest and most respectable of the denominations."

Calhoun was raised in western Abbeville county among Presbyterians and moved to Pendleton in 1825, where for the next five years he had occasional opportunities for hearing the preacher and teacher from Greenville, Dr. Johnson. This was probably his practical introduction to the Baptists of the State, And, inasmuch as Calhoun's one reference in the Senate to the denomination was in connection with an event in which Dr. Johnson was a well-known national figure, it is a pardonable fancy that Dr. Johnson contributed his mite toward the formation of the Senator's often read and often to be read high estimate of the denomination.

In the latter part of the forties, Dr. Johnson was a leader within the State of two movements, one to found and support Furman, the other to originate the Southern Seminary. At the last moment when $15,000 was needed to secure the $70,000 in bonds, the funds necessary for the opening of Furman, he pledged himself to make good, if necessary, one fifteenth of that amount—not a small sum for an underpaid preacher and teacher. And when the school was fully organized in 1852, he declined re-election to the presidency of the Convention the 28th time, and sat down in his 71st year, full of labors and of honors, quite exhausted, but, like hundred-handed Briareos, "exulting in glory." At the close of a rich man's life it is generally discovered that common rumor had exaggerated his possessions. But the reverse happens to men like Dr. Johnson whose reputation, great as it was, was not nearly co-extensive with his real worth. It fell to his lot to devote his private purse and his public service to the up-building of male schools while his private life was spent in Female academies and colleges. He began teaching in Columbia, if not earlier, where some of his pupils claimed after his death that he achieved his greatest triumphs in the school room. His reputation was already established, when he was invited to take charge of the Greenville Female Academy, and after seven full years among the mountain maidens he was yet to reach the zenith of his fame and usefulness in the middle and more wealthy section where for many years he held up the torch of learning. In 1848 the good people of Anderson, led by Elias Earle, Judge Reed, Daniel Brown and others, paid a beautiful and deserved tribute to his labors in behalf of female education by naming the new school, The Johnson Female Institute, "in honor of the great Dr. Johnson, of Edgefield village," designing it to be at the same time a gentle reminder to the Convention of its remissness in the field of female education. Dr. Johnson is least known in the school room and the least material exists for forming a judgment of his success, but if that man who makes two blades of grass grow where there was one is called a benefactor, what shall we call Dr. Johnson, who held his place in an aristocratic community for 30 years and sent classes successively from under his thorough discipline, elevated in character and refined in manners, to be teachers and mothers within the State?

In his public service in behalf of male schools he is indissolubly connected with Basil Manly and J. P. Boyce, and they together are as essential to the existence of the Seminary as three sides are to a triangle. Basil Manly worked with Dr.

Johnson some seventeen years in this State in behalf of theological education, and it was his experience at the High Hills which put a volume of meaning in his planning for the future. There he saw that one State could not support an able faculty nor furnish sufficient students. Accordingly he was one of the first to think of transferring the allegience to the central seminary to one nearer home. In March, 1835, he sketched what he called "the outline of a plan for a great Southern Baptist Institution, which would grow and expand itself under the divine blessing into an importance and usefulness, of which we cannot now conceive." But he was so far in advance of public opinion that his exhortation to take the subject into prayerful consideration only evoked ridicule in an adjoining State. Later he was the president of the three Educational Conventions in 1856, 1857 and 1858 which prepared for the opening of the Southern Baptist Seminary in 1859.

Dr. Johnson's part was fundamental. As in the school room so in college building he was thorough in laying the foundation. When Basil Manly saw the necessity of a wider union of the States, Dr. Johnson agreed with him but at the same time he saw that a State institution must be the basis of the central school. To this end, he was always present at the Convention and at all the board meetings save one. When the school at the High Hills suspended, he did not conceal his deep anxiety, but candidly told the brethren that after fourteen years of strenuous efforts, they were actually further off from their object than when they started. The very frankness and candor of the leader made his reanimating voice the more effective from one end of the State to the other. Whenever there was to be a step forward, as spokesman for the Convention, he conciliated and cultivated the people and led on to final success. The failure to found Furman would have meant failure in the Southern enterprise. Three years after he was superannuated, James P. Boyce, sitting in the chair of James S. Mims and resting on all that had been gathered or elicited before him, planned to complete the edifice which Richard Furman had begun and bequeathed—a central Seminary with State feeders. Boyce, the youthful Hercules, and the aged Manly were the main actors in this last enlargement. Richard Furman's work was like the water system of a spring branch, which under Johnson and Manly extended into a river system, until under Boyce and Manly it drained half a continent.

Apart from their joint labors, Dr. Johnson carries off undivided honors in some minor matters. In 1825, for instance, by personal solicitation, he raised funds in Greenville to erect a brick meeting house. It continued in use as a church until 1856, when it was idle for three years waiting for the Seminary to make it its home. In 1859 the immortal four took possession and it continued to be the home of the Seminary during the times of William Williams, the greatest of Southern Baptist orators and lucid reasoners, and up to 1877.

Dr. Johnson's pioneer work stood the test of time. Not by his own foresight, but in the orderings of Providence, his early labors lived on to reinforce his later ones and multiplied the sum total of his usefulness, even after he had gone to his reward. In this connection it should not be forgotten that the large-minded Vardry McBee knew the Baptist denomination first through Rev. Mr. Johnson, the teacher of girls in the Academy, the preacher in the Court House and the citizen pure in life, upright in conduct and patriotic to the core. He it was who presented the lot for the old brick church, who turned over the academy buildings and lot to the Convention and sold for a consideration the Furman campus, a piece of property not otherwise for sale.

In 1853, attracted by the salubrity of the climate and the kindness of the people Dr. Johnson bade farewell to Edgefield and made Anderson, then a village of some 500 inhabitants, his home. Here he remained five years and acted as president or chancellor of Johnson Female University, but served not as a regular instructor. The records of this school of learning and of the Baptist church at Anderson were unfortunately destroyed on May 1st, 1865, by a raid of Federal troops; but the facts already given and that he removed to Greenville in 1858 are authentic. He sojourned in Greenville till his death in the home of his youngest daughter, Mrs. G. F. Townes, where he was tenderly cared for. When his days were finally numbered, the Civil War was not yet past its meridian, Oct. 2, 1862, but his memory was none the less honored. Several sermons were preached in his honor, the Seminary professors, Associations and Conventions passed resolutions commemorating his services. Judge O'Neall pronounced him the foremost Baptist for 30 years. His ex-pastor, Richard Furman, Jr., affirmed that Furman University was due to him more than any other one man. But it was left to an anonymous pupil to rescue from oblivion her old master in the school room, erect, dignified, lacking somewhat in sympathy and softness but genial and accessible, a terror to evil doers, scathing in rebuke, but whose commendation was something to work for, sweat for, lose sleep and food for, and herself a teacher laid this wreath upon his last resting place:

"Vacation—long vacation
Has come to thee at last;
Dismissed all cares and troubles
Things now but of the past.

Teacher no longer, but learner
Before the great white throne,
Thou sitt'st to hear God's lessons
And makes them all thine own."

Had Dr. Johnson been spared three years longer to see the material and immaterial possessions of his beloved State descending into the bottomless charybdis of a ferocious defeat, he would not have craved exemption from the common ruin and humiliation of his people. For far above the fierce passions of men the stars were still shining and the ancient edict was still in force: They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars of the firmament forever and ever.

CONSTITUTION.

We, the representatives of the constituent body of the State Convention of the Baptist denomination in South Carolina, do agree upon the following articles as forming the Constitution of the Convention, and as the basis of the union:

ARTICLE I.

This body shall be styled the State Convention of the Baptist Denomination in South Carolina.

ARTICLE II.

The comprehensive purpose of the Convention shall be: The union of the Baptists throughout the State in efforts to advance the kingdom of Christ in the world.

The Convention will claim no right to lord it over God's heritage, believing that the right of government, under Christ, is vested in the churches themselves.

ARTICLE III.

Special objects fostered by the Convention, as tending to accomplish its comprehensive purpose, shall be: The Preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of the State; the work of Colportage, including distribution of God's Word and approved Christian literature; the interests of Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Sunday School and Temperance; the work of Christian Education; the maintenance of an Orphanage; and the care of Aged Ministers and the families of deceased ministers.

ARTICLE IV.

The preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of our State and the work of Colportage shall be known as State Missions, and shall be entrusted to an Executive Board, consisting of a President, a Vice-President, a Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, and an Auditor, who shall be Auditor of the Convention, and sixteen other members. This Board shall be elected in four sets of five members each to serve for terms of one, two, three, and four years respectively, and their successors shall be elected annually as their terms of office expire; and the President of the Convention shall be ex-officio a member of the Board. Seven members of the Board shall constitute a quorum. The Corresponding Secretary shall be the executive officer of the Board. The Board shall act under general directions of the Convention, and shall make an annual report to the Convention. The Treasurer shall make an annual report of receipts and disbursements. Besides the special objects entrusted to the Board, it shall also have authority to represent the Convention in all matters requiring attention while the Convention is not in session.

ARTICLE V.

Among special objects of the Convention, the support of Institutions of Learning in this State shall be considered as primary. The government of these Institutions shall be committed to a Board of Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Convention in accordance with the character of the institution.

ARTICLE VI.

In addition to the Boards provided for in Articles IV and V there shall be: A Board of Ministerial Education, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds to help needy and worthy young men while preparing for the ministry; a Board of Aged Ministers' Relief, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds for the assistance of Aged Ministers and the families of deceased ministers; and a Board of Trustees of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, to whom the entire management of the Orphanage shall be committed, subject to directions from the Convention, and one-third of whose number shall be appointed each year by the Convention.

ARTICLE VII.

This Convention shall consist of delegates from the Baptist Associations in this State, who may approve the measures here adopted, and from other religious bodies of the Baptist denomination concerned in the promotion of the same objects with the Convention. Each Association shall be entitled to two delegates at large, and also to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed since the last session of the Convention, to State Missions; and any Baptist church, Sunday School, Missionary or Education Society, or individual, shall be entitled to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed as aforesaid, for the purpose named; provided that every such delegate shall be a white member of some Baptist church in the State. The delegates shall be chosen annually, and satisfactory evidence of their appointment shall, on demand, be exhibited to the Convention.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Convention shall have a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary and Assistant Secretary, Statistical Secretary, a Treasurer, and an Auditor. The duties severally assigned to the officers of similar organizations shall devolve on those of this body; and they shall hold their office for one year, or until their successors are appointed, unless forfeited by unrighteous conduct.

ARTICLE IX.

This Convention will receive contributions, legacies and bequests for the several objects which it has in charge.

All moneys specially appropriated shall be scaredly applied to the objects designated; but when any contribution or bequests are made without any special designation, discretion in their application shall be exercised by the Convention or Executive Board.

ARTICLE X.

The Convention shall have annual meetings; but in cases of important concern, the President may, at the instance of the Executive Board, call a special meeting.

ARTICLE XI.

Any alteration which experience may suggest can be made in these Articles by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present at an annual meeting.

Rules for the Transaction of Business.

1. After prayer on the first day, the names of delegates shall be enrolled, officers shall be elected and, when the body is organized, applications for membership from new bodies be decided on, and if admitted their attending delegates shall be received by the right hand of fellowship.

2. The meeting of the Convention shall be opened and closed each day of its session with prayer by the President, or by some person whom he shall request to perform the service.

3. The Minutes shall be read at suitable intervals, to the end that mistakes, if any shall have been made, may be corrected.

4. The following Stated Committees shall be appointed by the President early in each session to report during the session, viz:

(1) A Committee of Five on Preaching during the Session.

(2) A Committee on Time and Place of Next Meeting and Preacher for Convention Sermon.

5. The following Standing Committees shall be appointed by the President at his convenience during each session, to report at the next session, viz:

(1) A Committee of Five on Foreign Missions.
(2) A Committee of Five on Home Missions.
(3) A Committee of Five on Woman's Missions.
(4) A Committee of Five on Temperance.
(5) A Committee of Five on Order of Business.
(6) A Committee of Five on Young People's Work.
(7) A Committee of Five on Apportionment.
(8) A Committee on Obituarities, consisting of one member from each Association, with the addition of a chairman, to gather, during the year, facts concerning deceased ministers and such others as have been distinctively active and useful in the work of the Convention, and to prepare suitable notices of them to be reported at the ensuing session of the Convention.

6. Kerfoot's Parliamentary Law shall be Standard for the conduct of the business of the Convention.

7. No collection shall be taken in the Convention without a motion.

8. Any of the foregoing rules may be suspended at any meeting of the Convention, by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

MINUTES OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST MINISTERS' CONFERENCE.

The Twenty-third Annual Session of the South Carolina Baptist Ministers' Conference conveyed in the First Baptist Church of Anderson on the night of December the sixth, 1909.

President N. N. Burton, of Batesburg, called the meeting to order and called upon the Rev. Geo. A. Wright, of Newberry, to conduct devotional exercises. Several songs were sung, and prayers were made by Revs. J. C. Browne, of Aiken; D. H. Crosland, of Saluda; J. N. Prestridge, of Louisville, Ky; and J. D. Huggins, of Beaufort.

President Burton called for nominations for president. Upon motion of A. C. Wilkins, of Abbeville, H. L. Baggott, of Inman, was elected president and H. K. Williams, of Pelzer, was chosen secretary.

S. A. Smith, representing the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky., addressed the conference upon: "South Carolina's Debt to the Seminary." South Carolina is asked to give $50,009 for the Seminary endowment.

J. E. Johnston, of Kirksey, announced the serious illness of Rev. G. H. Burton, of Calhoun Falls, and special prayer was made for him by A. C. Wilkins, of Abbeville.

TUESDAY MORNING'S SESSION.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. D. H. Crosland, of Saluda. Prayer was made by Revs. Geo. A. Wright, of Newberry; J. W. Kenny, of Orangeburg; and J. R. Aiken, of Fair Forest. The first speaker was H. A. Willis, who discussed the subject: "The Pastor and Civic Righteousness." He said that the pastor should not be too Puritanical; that we need not more laws, but the better observance of those now on the statute books, and the pastors should teach men the moral and Christian duty of observing the laws of the State.

Rev. Chas. E. Burts, of Edgefield, and H. L. Baggott, of Inman, read papers on the subject: "Is it consistent with New Testament Teaching and Baptist usage for one Church to receive a member who has been excluded from another Church?"

This subject elicited considerable discussion, entered into by Jabez Ferris, of Kershaw; Wm. Haynsworth, of Privateer; N. N. Burton, of Batesburg; L. M. Roper, of Spartanburg; O. L. Martin, of Barnesville, Ga.; Jos. N. Brown, of Anderson; H. A. Taylor, of Traveler's Rest; G. A. Martin, of Lodge; M. D. Padgett, of Mount Willing; J. N. Prestridge, of Louisville, Ky.; L. C. Ezell, of Woodruff; A. L. Vaughan, of Piedmont; Geo. W.

Bussey, of Fountain Inn; W. T. Tate, of Belton; A. C. Wilkins, of Abbeville.

Dr. L. M. Roper, of Spartanburg, spoke on the question: "Are the Churches menaced by Worldliness?" Dr. Roper defined "Worldliness" as signifying the predominance of secular aims and secular pursuits.

Rev. Edward S. Reaves, of Honea Path, followed Dr. Roper on the same subject.

Upon motion of Rev. J. D. Huggins, it was "Resolved, That it is our earnest any prayerful judgment that theatre-going, card playing in clubs and parties, modern dancing, speculation in cotton futures, and other kindred things are inconsistent for Christians, harmful to their spiritual life and destructive of their influence in the world."

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rev. Jno. F. Vines discussed the subject: "The Pastor and His Perils." Rev. R. T. Marsh, of Rock Hill, followed J. F. Vines with a paper on the same subject.

Rev. Geo. N. Cowan, of Greenwood, spoke on the subject: "The Pastor and His Study."
